Pack a Wallop

Q. Early in August I saw a demonstration on the Steve Allen Show of an electrically powered device used for batting practice. I think it was called a Walloping Wonder. I failed to catch where this can be bought, and would like now to get one for my grandson for Christmas. Mrs. N. A., Lynwood.

A. The Walloping Wonder can be bought from the manufacturer, Green Power Foundation Inc., 1150 S. San Pedro St., Los Angeles, for $149.50. "Many people think this is a toy, but it's not," a company spokesman said. The machine rotates a ball at the end of a string at varying speeds, providing batting practice. The company no longer makes the item, but they still have a large stock left, the spokesman said.

Flight Plan?

Q. My son recently was invited on a "$10 donation" flight to Las Vegas, arranged by the Orange Coast B'nai B'rith. When he and a friend arrived at the airport, however, they were singled out from near the front of the line and informed that only persons over 30 years old and with $100 in their wallets would be allowed on the flight. He got his $10 back, but he is still angry about the inconvenience that he was caused. Can ACTION LINE do anything about this? Mrs. M.C., Paramount.

GRAFFITI by Leary

A. Not much, Jerry Dean, head of the organization that arranges these flights, said that your son was turned away because, mistakenly, two many people had been signed up for the flight. He added that the Circus-Circus Casino, sponsor of the flights, prefers that persons taking them be "affluent and over thirty." But these are not specific qualifications, he said, and had there been room aboard the plane, your son would have been welcomed. He denied that your son and his friend were singled out from the front of the line, stating that those bumped from the flight were selected from among the last to arrive. Dean pointed out that these flights are invitational and provided free of cost by the Circus-Circus. The donation, he said is used as a fund-raising method by the nonprofit organization in this case, B'nai B'rith that recruits passengers for the flight.

Scrip Scrap

Q. I am a merchant seaman, and while our ship was unloading in Inchon, Korea, I purchased some military scrip, the only legal tender at the U.S. military base in that area. But when we arrived in Vietnam, I was told that my left-over scrip was obsolete and non redeemable. Can ACTION LINE tell me if it is possible to exchange this scrip for American money? J.P.W., San Pedro.

A. Send the scrip by registered mail with a letter explaining where the scrip was purchased, when it was purchased, and why you were unable to exchange it, to the Commanding General, Finance Center, U.S. Army, Attention Field Services Office, Indianapolis, Ind. 46249. A spokesman at the finance center said that your letter will be evaluated, and if you can convince them that you were unable to exchange the scrip before the date of obsolescence, you will be sent a treasury check for the full amount.

Indian School

Q. I have been solicited for a donation by the St. Francis Indian Mission, St. Francis, S.D. 57572. I am interested in contributing, but would first like to find out if this mission is legitimate. R.E.B., Long Beach.

A. It is. The mission, run by the Jesuit Order of the Catholic Church, presently is educating about 475 Sioux children, and is supported almost entirely by private donations, according to Frank La Pointe, editor of the nearby Rosebud Sioux Herald newspaper. The Rev. Bernard Fagan, Superior of the Mission, said that the school has been in operation since 1886, when Sioux Chief Spotted Tail asked the "black robes" to come to the reservation and assist in the education of the tribe's children. Father Fagan said that about 20 Jesuits, along with 30 young, "poorly paid but dedicated", lay volunteers are today working with children, starting at the preschool level and continuing through grade twelve. The school works closely with tribal leaders and, along with the traditional academic pursuits, teaches such things as Sioux history, art and language, Father Fagan said. The mission has very few large benefactors, the school superior added, and any and all contributions are deeply appreciated.

Plastic People

Q. I understand that there is a company in Tennessee that laminates birth, death and wedding announcements in plastic. This service supposedly includes artwork around the edges and some type of poem on the back. Can ACTION LINE either get me the address of this company, or tell me where I might get the same thing done locally? V.L.V., Torrance.

A. Permanent Records Co., 2164 Young Ave., Memphis, Tenn. is one such company. Prices start at $1 per copy, and a spokesman for the firm promised to send you a brochure, outlining the extent of their services and the cost. ACTION LINE was unable to locate a similar operation on this side of the continent.

ASKS NEGATIVE DATA ON CITIZENS

Secret Service 'Policing' Individuals

By RICHARD D. LYONS

WASHINGTON — The Secret Service has issued "guidelines" to the nation's federal and local law enforcement agencies, which, if literally interpreted, would have them collect negative information about vast numbers of Americans.

Labeled "for official use only," the guidelines apparently were issued last summer to supplant another set that had stemmed from recommendations of the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination of President Kennedy.

But the current guidelines apparently go far beyond those envisioned by the Warren Commission to deal with protection of the President.

Jack Warner, an assistant to the Secret Service director, said the guidelines had been intended to facilitate the gathering of information to be used to protect the President and other high officials.

Yet the wording of the "U.S. Secret Service Liaison

EXCLUSIVE
N.Y. Times Service

son Guidelines" requests not only information about obvious threats to the President and others protected by the service but also:

—Information about attempts to "embarrass" high officials.

—Information "regarding civil disturbances."

—Information on people seeking "redress of imaginary grievances, etc."

—Information on people making "irrational" or "abusive statements" about high government officials.

—Information "regarding anti-American or anti-U.S. government demonstrations."

One Secret Service official, who requested anonymity, said:

"The choice of language is certainly unfortunate and could mislead less sophisticated people into thinking that they should collect and send us information that certainly wasn't desired."

The guidelines direct the mailing of "routine reports" to Secret Service headquarters here and the telephoning of "emergency information, especially in reference to presidential protection."

The guidelines have been sent to at least seven federal law enforcement agencies including the FBI and the CIA, as well as to many of the nation's police departments.

Many legal and scientific groups have recently been protesting the collection of such information and its use against persons

Capital March Wins OK

Protest Leaders

Reject Route

Approved By U.S.

WASHINGTON — The government agreed Friday to allow anti-Vietnam war demonstrators to stage a mass march from the Capitol to the area of the White House Nov. 15 but protest leaders rejected the plan.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said the Justice Department would issue a permit for the New Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam dropped its demand that the parade go down Pennsylvania Avenue, traditional capital parade route.

NEW YORK — Western Union said Friday that the White House received about 52,000 telegrams in the 48 hours immediately following President Nixon's Vietnam policy speech Monday. "No one here can remember a heavier or more intense telegram response," a Western Union spokesman said.

But the New Mobilization replied in a statement that the plan Kleindienst approved "departs considerably from the alternative offered . . . in that no provision is made for passing in front of the White House."

"Moreover, this proposal was rejected by the New Mobilization committee previously. The Justice Department was aware of the organization's position on this route before it was offered today," the statement said.

The committee expressed pleasure that a agreement had been reached on all other aspects of the three-day demonstration it plans, with only the route of the Nov. 15 parade unsettled.

Instead of Pennsylvania Avenue, Kleindienst said, the demonstrators will be allowed to use Constitution Avenue to proceed to the south front of the White House en route to the Washington Monument for a rally scheduled to climax three days of antiwar activities in the Capital.

"We believe that the demonstrators have a clear right to meet in Washington and to petition the government for a re-

Two Jailed in Threat to Assassinate Nixon

Storm Will Stay for Weekend

Fall's first storm, which brought more than an inch of rain to Long Beach by Friday night, flooded low-lying areas and snarled traffic, will be around through Sunday, the U.S. Weather Bureau says.

The forecast calls for clouds and rain today, and light showers Sunday. It will continue cool, with a low of 52 tonight and a high of 63 today.

The storm brought a sharp increase in fender-bending accidents, and freeways were as clogged by disabled cars as by the rain itself.

Storm drains overflowed and some streets were awash in Bellflower. A Bank of America branch at 17445 Bellflower Blvd. was also flooded.

The storm was blamed for transformer short circuits that blacked out 2,600 residences of Santa Ana and the surrounding area, utility company officials said.

Telephones were knocked out in part of Orange County by water that seeped into cables.

At Redondo Beach Boulevard and South Broadway in the Gardena area, high water closed the intersection to traffic.

In Friday's storm, Long Beach received .63 of an inch of rain, Santa Ana an inch, Torrance .57 and Los Angeles .67.

When the scientists at Cape Kennedy lose their tempers, they count to one.

COURT UPHOLDS TOPLESS DANCERS

Los Angeles County's ban on topless dancing was declared "invalid and unconstitutional" Friday.

The decision by Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer came a bare three days before the new ordinance was to go into effect.

The preliminary injunction prohibiting authorities from enforcing the ban applied only to the section pertaining to topless performances, however. It did not affect other sections banning bottomless, or nude, dancing.

Schauer cited a Nov. 14 decision of the California Supreme Court which held topless dancing per se was a form of expression protected by the First Amendment.

"The state Supreme Court decision," said Schauer, "protects topless dancing unless obscene." The county ordinance declares it is a misdemeanor to dance bare-breasted and makes no mention of obscenity or lewdness.

"This ordinance does not require obscenity, but only exposure," the judge said, "and as applied to topless dancing, it is invalid and unconstitutional."

The ordinance was challenged by Walter C. Robson, owner of "The Phone Booth" nightclub, and a dancer, Mrs. Jean Chanel, 28.

GEORGE W. BAKER ESCORTED FROM MIAMI FEDERAL BUILDING
Suspect Held After Writing President Vowing to Kill Federal Officers

Smugglers Flee, Drop $350,000 Pot Haul

By BILL CAGNON
Staff Writer

Two dope smugglers eluded capture near Carlsbad, California, Friday, but left behind a rented single-engine airplane stuffed with marijuana worth $350,000, authorities said.

The plane — a four-place Cessna 170 — was identified by John A. Van Diver, chief of the San Ysidro customs office, as one rented earlier in Long Beach or Orange County.

He said 101 kilo "bricks" of marijuana weighing 2.2 pounds each and several plastic sacks filled with the illegal weed were in the 500 pounds of contraband seized by customs and border patrol agents.

Also confiscated as evidence were the plane and an automobile believed used by the suspects.

Van Diver said an official at Palomar Airport, five miles east of Carlsbad, became suspicious after the suspects' plane landed there about 10 a.m.

Airport officials noted the plane was covered with mud and decided to investigate after the suspects went into a nearby cafe for coffee. Looking inside the plane an official saw the marijuana cached under blankets and luggage in the rear of the cabin.

Authorities at San Ysidro were notified and a customs agent and two border patrolmen were flown in Palomar aboard a Federal Aviation Agency plane.

One of the suspects left the cafe before authorities arrived. However, when the FAA plane landed the other suspect apparently became suspicious and fled on foot.

San Diego County officers were pressed into the hunt for the wanted men. A short time later a deputy spotted a car approach-

G.E., Union, Meet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negotiators for the 90,000-member International Electrical Workers Union met Friday with representatives of General Electric Co. for the first time since the IUE and 12 other unions struck the nation's fourth largest manufacturer 12 days ago.

Viet War Cited by Suspects

MIAMI — Two men charged with threatening the life of President Nixon in connection with the war in Vietnam were ordered held on $200,000 bond each here Friday as Nixon relaxed a few miles away on Key Biscayne.

The men, both arrested just before the President arrived for the weekend were George W. Baker, 51, of Miami and John Anthony Baker, 24, of Breezewood, Pa.

Police said they were not related.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Mike Osman said George Baker was arrested on a charge of assaulting a federal officer and John Baker on a charge of threatening the life of the President.

THE MIAMI MAN, Osman said, wrote Nixon in May and said if his son in Vietnam were killed he would kill every federal official he could find from the members of the local draft board all the way up to the President.

"Because the President was coming to Florida the Secret Service went to his house Thursday," Osman said, "and he invited them inside and then got the drop on them with a high-powered rifle."

Baker was subdued without anybody being injured, authorities said.

Osman said the rifle, complete with a telescopic sight, was confiscated along with three other rifles and three pistols.

NEIGHBORS of the Baker family in Miami said four carloads of Secret Service agents were awaiting Baker Thursday evening when he came home from his job at Pan American Airways.

"A short time later," said a woman, "they came

Big Jim Garrison Involved in Scandal

Combined News Services
New Orleans—District Attorney Jim Garrison, still vowing to solve the Dallas assassination of President John F. Kennedy, was involved in hometown crime and scandal issues Friday on the eve of his bid for re-election. The 6-6 Garrison is opposed by three young attorneys in the Democratic primary today, which is expected to attract more than 200,000 voters. His opponents also have criticized Garrison on issues, including the forfeiting of $1.2 million in bail bonds, lack of a campaign against organized crime and alleged involvement with the Louisiana Loan and Thrift Corp., a now bankrupt firm. Five persons, including Louisiana Attorney General Jack Gremillion, have been indicted for fraud in connection with that operation. "I have never had any stock whatsoever in L.L.T.," Garrison said. But certificates shown Thursday show the district attorney held sizable holdings in the loan company. Garrison countered by saying the federal government and news media are anxious to defeat him because he will not compromise in the investigation of Kennedy's death.

ALL SET FOR A FANCY WEDDING

Sgt. Albert Nirenstein, who lost both his legs in Vietnam, and his bride, Capt. Nancy Dunker of the Army Nurse Corps, are looking forward to Sunday when they throw a bash at the New York Hilton with 50 other Vietnam amputees. The couple were wed secretly in October but will have a wedding party in a $600-a-day hotel penthouse and honeymoon in Hawaii. Al is from Stamford, Conn. and Nancy is from Midlothian, Ill. They met at the Valley Forge, Pa. Hospital.

TRUST BUSTER

Thurman W. Arnold, 78, New Deal trust buster and founder of one of Washington's leading law firms, died Friday at his home in Alexandria, Va. As an assistant attorney general in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Administration, Arnold filed some 230 antitrust suits, more than had been brought before in the 50-year history of the Sherman Act. His targets included the American Medical Association, Standard Oil of New Jersey, The Associated Press, and building trade unions.

RECORD SING

Pop singer Bob Anthony broke the world record for non-stop singing Friday in London when he completed 12 hours and 3 minutes of continuous warbling during which he sang 273 songs, finishing with a chorus of "All The Day." The old record was 12 hours 24 minutes.

7 Yanks Wounded in Red Attack

Combined News Services

SAIGON Saturday — A force of North Vietnamese troops, creeping from a jungle area bombed only a few hours earlier by B-52 Stratofortresses, attacked an American artillery base north of Saigon today after a second consecutive night of heavy Communist shelling throughout the country. U.S. military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese force withdrew without apparent casualties after a one-hour battle at the base 83 miles north of the capital. Seven Americans were wounded but none killed, they said, and South Vietnamese mercenaries also at the base suffered light casualties. Only a few hours before the North Vietnamese launched their attack, B-52 bombers had flown four raids over the area and dumped about 360 tons of explosives in the dense jungle surrounding the base.

Hanoi Rips Nixon Viet Plan

PARIS—North Vietnam said Friday night President Nixon's plan for Vietnamization of the war in South Vietnam is intended to prolong the conflict, pitting Vietnamese people against each other "for the sake of the selfish interest" of the United States. The statement by the Hanoi government, issued by its delegation to the Vietnam peace talks, was one of the strongest stated Communist reactions to Nixon's policy statement on the war last Monday night. "In a word, President Nixon's Nov. 3 address is a speech of war," said the Hanoi statement. "His plan for peace is a trick to prolong the war."

Russ Hold Low-Key Celebration

MOSCOW—The Soviet Union celebrated its 52nd anniversary Friday with low-key speeches stressing peace and the shortest parade of its military might in years. The Russians rolled huge intercontinental missiles through Red Square but failed to display any new weapons. Defense Minister, Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, speaking from the top of Lenin's mausoleum, barely touched on American policy in Vietnam and omitted mention of Communist China and West Germany. The display of weapons ranged from small command cars with anti-tank rockets to the giant intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) but all of them had been paraded in previous years. Israeli Jets Hit Jordan, Egypt

TEL AVIV—Israeli air force jets blasted parts of Jordan and Egypt Friday and Israeli deputy premier Yigal Alon warned Lebanon and Syria that they were also vulnerable to attack. The U.S. said Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser has damaged Middle East peace efforts. A communique issued in Tel Aviv said Israeli planes struck Jordanian positions shortly after an Israeli patrol was hit near Neve Ur, eight miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

64 Killed in Africa Mine Blast

KLERKSDORP, Transvaal—An explosion ripped through a gold mine shaft 7,500 feet below ground, claiming heavy casualties Friday in South Africa's third worst mining disaster. A spokesman for the General Mining Co. said 64 miners were killed and 27 injured, some critically. An estimated 10 cases of dynamite exploded in the confined space of a new shaft being sunk at the company's Buffelsfontein gold mine, about 100 miles west of Johannesburg and 15 miles from Klerksdorp.

Probe Asked Over C-5A-Linked Firing

WASHINGTON — A new round of Senate hearings linked to the firing of the Air Force cost expert who disclosed a $2-billion overrun on the C-5A cargo plane was ordered Friday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. At about the same time the Air Force, saying it wanted to avoid the appearance of conflict of interest, fired an outside consultant whose accounting firm is linked to Lockheed Aircraft Co., maker of the C-5A. Proxmire said in an interview he hopes the hearings will show why the Air Force fired A. E. Fitzgerald. He called the Air Force's retention of John J. Dymont, 36, to work in the same field as the outgoing Fitzgerald a "shocking conflict of interest." His reason: Dymont is a partner in the New York accounting firm of the Arthur Young Co., which handles accounts for Lockheed — including its work on the C-5. Spencer Scheller, assistant Air Force secretary for financial management, retained Dymont and announced Fitzgerald's job was being eliminated on the same day last week. "Although Mr. Scheller is convinced that no conflict of interest has occurred, he does not want a situation to exist which could in anyway cause speculation about the integrity of his office, himself or Mr. Dymont," the Pentagon announcement said. It was issued only hours after Dymont's hiring as a $107-a-day consultant became known.

Apollo 12 Countdown Begins

CAPE KENNEDY — The week-long countdown began Friday for America's second moon landing expedition as the three Apollo 12 astronauts met with geologists to learn what lunar features they should look for during their ambitious 10-day mission. The launch team started the countdown clock exactly on time at noon and got to work preparing the towering moon rocket for an 11:22 a.m. lift off next Friday for Navy Cmdrs. Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean. Altogether, the countdown is scheduled to take 98 hours. It was spread out over a week, however, and will be interrupted by four planned holds totaling 69 hours and 22 minutes to allow time for crew rest or to correct problems that might arise.

More Air Controllers Asked

GRAND CAY, Bahamas — President Nixon appealed to Congress Friday to authorize hiring of 1,000 more air traffic controllers and then flew by helicopter to the Bahamas for an overnight stay. He was accompanied only by C.G. Rebozo, his friend from Key Biscayne, Fla. Nixon made an urgent request for more air traffic controllers he said are vitally needed to speed air travel and prevent collisions. He said they should be put on the payrolls for the current fiscal year in addition to 2,800 traffic controllers already included in the Transportation Department's 1970 budget.

Grand Jury Indicts Hijacker

NEW YORK — A 20-year-old AWOL Marine, held in a Rome jail after carrying out the world's longest air hijacking, was indicted Friday by a federal grand jury on charges of air piracy, kidnapping and assault. In Rome, an assistant prosecutor predicted that U.S. attempts to extradite Raphael Minichiello, the hijacker, would be refused. "Since one of the charges against him is air piracy and this can entail the death penalty in America, it is my conviction that extradition will likely be refused," said Massimo Carli, the prosecutor. Minichiello hijacked a Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 Oct. 31 on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

LSK KING

Augustus Owsley Stanley III, reputed millionaire king of LSD, was sentenced Friday in San Francisco to three years in prison. Stanley, grandson of a former U.S. senator, from Kentucky, was believed in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury in 1966 and 1967 to be the giant among makers of LSD tablets. Stanley, 33, was arrested Dec. 21, 1967, in a raid on his plush home in Orinda, Calif. Federal narcotics agents said they found an LSD factory and ingredients sufficient for 700,000 tablets.

IMPEACH

High-placed House Republicans are contemplating an effort to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Disclosure of their move Friday appeared certain further to complicate the Senate contest on confirmation of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., nominated by President Nixon for a Supreme Court seat. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said he thinks that if Haynsworth is rejected on ethical standards "then the same standards should be applied to all members of the Supreme Court."

BAIL DENIED

Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman Friday refused to grant bail to Black Panther leader Bobby Seale pending appeal of his four-year sentence for contempt of court. The judge called Seale a "dangerous man" who "sought to destroy and overturn the American judicial system." Hoffman, in denying bail, also in effect rejected defense arguments that the black militant should be given a jury trial on 16 counts of contempt for his tempestuous outbursts that brought the Chicago riot conspiracy trial to repeated halts.

YOU MUST BURN ONLY THE BEST

Helmut Kand is a young Austrian artist who serves up his canvases rare, medium or well done. He sets the paintings on fire and then displays the ashes. "The beauty of the flames is just as good as the beauty of the paintings," said Kand, 22, who plans to open his first exhibition in London next week by igniting two pictures outside the gallery. He's going to display the rest of his paintings, though, because he has to sell them to live. "You shouldn't do this burning too often or you'll get accustomed to it," warned Kand. "I like to watch the process and I would like to teach people to be excited by the movement of the colors and the sound of crackling flames." Why not just set fire to a piece of paper, then, instead of a work of art. "Oh no," said Kand, taken aback. "You must burn the best."

ACTOR DIES

Character actor Lloyd Corrigan, who came from a show business family and became a successful writer, director and actor, is dead at 69. He succumbed at the Motion Picture and Television Country home in Hollywood. Corrigan, who came to Hollywood as a screenwriter for Paramount Pictures in the 1920s, moved to directing and finally acting. He appeared in dozens of movies, including "Dr. Fu Manchu," which he helped write, and "It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World." He co-starred in a now defunct TV series, "Hank."

TRAIL'S END FOR LEGIONAIRE

The body of drowning victim Christopher John Burns, 74, lies under shroud after his body was pulled from water near Queen Mary fill area at foot of Magnolia Avenue. Burns, homeless and down on his luck, was a member of the American Legion. Lieutenant Patrick Flynn and Burton A. Ballou, both Long Beach lifeguards, spotted the body at about 3 p.m. Burns, believed the victim of an accident, was fully clothed when found and had $3.73 in his pockets. Aside from the clothing he wore and the cash in his possession, all Burns had left in the world were memories. He had no known home, no known friends and no known family. Only last month, Burns lost his apartment, too old and senile to care for it or himself properly, according to his former landlady, police said.

DEFINITELY MARIJUANA

Weed Identified in Champ's Car

Chemical analysis of the weed-like substance that led to the Long Beach arrest of world lightweight boxing champion Mando Ramos was identified Friday as positively being marijuana.

Result of the lab test of the substance found in a plastic bag in Ramos' car was revealed by Deputy Dist. Atty. David Kennick.

The prize fighter, 20, of 709 E. Third St., is scheduled to be arraigned in Long Beach Municipal Court Monday on a misdemeanor charge of marijuana possession. He was freed on $1,250 bail shortly after his arrest Thursday.

Ramos was booked when police found two to three grams of marijuana in his car after stopping him at 239 Elm Ave. on a traffic charge.

Ramos, the father of a newborn son, told police he didn't know anything about the marijuana. The champ is scheduled to defend his title in Panama City next January.

SENATOR WARNS:

Cut Heavy Traffic or Strangle in it

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Californians were warned Friday that unless they turn to other forms of transportation — including mass rapid transit and high-speed interurban trains — they face strangulation on the freeways within 10 to 15 years.

Just because the freeways have served well in the last 30 years, State Sen. Howard Way said, doesn't mean they'll serve well in the next 30.

"We're going to have to back off from a successful program and ask whether it will be successful from now on," he told more than 100 persons at a 48th anniversary meeting of the Downtown Lions Club in the Lafayette, attended by State Sen. Joseph Kennick and George Deukmejian, and City Manager John R. Mansell.

The Tulare County legislator won applause from both Democrats and Republicans in the audience in saying he agrees with the experts that the internal combustion engine has become a liability on the highways.

"UNLESS WE do something about developing a balanced transportation system," he declared, "we're going to strangle in the spaghetti of 3,000 miles of freeway — that is, if we don't first choke on the smog we're producing."

He said freeways have become not only inefficient, but unsafe, and added the emphasis from now on should be on moving people, not vehicles.

Way, president pro tem of the senate, also said the freeways are having a detrimental effect on agriculture in California. Every mile of freeway that's built through a rural area, he warned, is replacing 40 acres of rich farmland. "We have to preserve this land for the production of food and fiber," he said.

Questioned after the meeting, Way said he doesn't think the state should halt freeway construction entirely, but should build them on a highly selective basis and in the context of an integrated transportation system.

"HE SAID perhaps the greatest roadblock to a balanced transportation network is a constitutional provision that prevents the state from financing rapid transit with gas tax revenues. Yet the people must be able to use those revenues if they wish to build a mass transportation system," he declared.

Moreover, he added, he doesn't believe the "highway lobby" will oppose mass transit much longer. The lobby, he said, consists of grading contractors along with the oil, auto and trucking industries.

"I think they'll lessen the pressure," he said. "As they say, there's nothing like an idea whose time has arrived."

And mass transit's time has arrived, he indicated.

CHILD ABUSE

CASE HALTS FOR RECESS

The defense and prosecution rested their cases Friday at the trial of 10 persons charged with felony child abuse for the imprisonment of a 6-year-old boy in a packing crate.

Superior Court Judge Warren E. Slaughter was expected to read instructions to the jury of five men and seven women on Monday. The court will be in recess for Veterans Day on Tuesday and Deliberations were expected to begin Wednesday.

The defendants all were members of a desert commune near Blythe where Anthony was boarded by his father, James Gibbons, who was indicated and is still at large. The mother, Beverly June Gibbons, is one of the defendants.

GUARDIANS WON'T TELL

Police Can't Find Jeffrey

United Press International

The whereabouts of Jeffrey Lansdown, 8-year-old son of a woman charged with abandoning another of her children beside a freeway, remained a mystery Friday following a Los Angeles County Juvenile Court hearing.

"I do not know where he is," said Dep. Dist. Attn. John Stillman as he left the courtroom after the two-hour closed hearing.

Betty Fouquet, 26, her common-law husband, Ronald Fouquet, 31, and her former husband, Billy Joe Lansdown, 30, all appeared before Judge Robert A. Wenke.

The Fouquets were brought here from Bakersfield, where they are charged with leaving Mrs. Fouquet's 5-year-old daughter, Jody, on a freeway last Oct. 25.

Wenke ordered the couple to return to court Nov. 23 in a further effort to develop information on the boy, who was born in Tulare County.

JEFFREY'S father, Lansdown, testified he had not seen the boy since 1965, according to a sheriff's department spokesman. Lansdown said that he was in New York at the home of his mother-in-law, Martha Garrison.

Lansdown said he had tried several times to get information on Jeffrey but had no success.

After Jody was picked up by Kern County authorities she said her name was "Smith." A newspaper picture drew the attention of a former neighbor who knew her and identified Mrs. Fouquet, a resident of Bell Gardens, as her mother.

The Fouquets have refused to make any public statement as to the whereabouts of Jeffrey. It was understood they took the Fifth Amendment and gave only their names and residences at the hearing.

Stillman told newsmen the Nov. 25 hearing would be held to determine whether Mrs. Fouquet's children should be made court wards.

Argentina Jetliner Hijacked

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — An Argentine Austral Airlines jetliner was hijacked on a domestic flight Friday night, made one refueling stop in the interior Argentine city of Cordoba and then flew here where all 66 passengers disembarked.

The hijacker, who was armed with a pistol, remained aboard the plane with the pilot, co-pilot and the director of Montevideo's International Airport, Victor Garin, who went aboard to confer with him.

Three of the passengers told newsmen at the airport the hijacker appeared to be seeking asylum in Uruguay rather than planning to force the pilot to fly him to Cuba, as Argentine officials originally reported. Passengers said the hijacker appeared to be in his early 20s.

Police surrounded the plane on the runway here while passengers scrambled down a ramp from the aircraft, many of them running through a light rain to an airport reception room. Garin was allowed to enter the plane about five minutes after it landed.

Kopechne Transcript Study Due

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (U) — Judge Bernard C. Brominski said Friday he is "getting piecemeal" from a court stenographer a transcript of a hearing on a petition for an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne who died in Sen. Edward Kennedy's submerged automobile in waters off a Massachusetts island.

The judge said he planned to study the whole transcript before ruling on the petition. He said this may take a week or more. Brominski, president judge of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court who won re-election last Tuesday, heard two days of testimony last month on a petition for an autopsy sought by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dims, of New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., opposed exhumation of their daughter's body.

Miss Kopechne died last July 18 or 19 when a car driven by Kennedy bridged off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast.

out with an armload of guns. I didn't hear any shots."

She said Baker was a husky man with close-cropped white hair, who kept to himself.

Nixon left for the Bahamas Friday afternoon but Ron Ziegler, his press aide, said shortly before he left that Nixon had not been in any direct danger on Key Biscayne.

"There was no problem involved in the direct security of the President on his visit to his Key Biscayne compound," Ziegler said. "And at no time was the personal well being of the President directly involved."

ZIEGLER said both men were arrested before Nixon arrived Thursday night.

In Washington, D.C., Jack Warner, a Secret Service official, said George Baker's letter contained "a veiled threat to the President."

He said John Arthur Baker had been wanted since October 20 when a warrant charging he had threatened the President was issued in Pittsburgh. He said John Baker was arrested several hours before George Baker.

The Pennsylvania man was arraigned Thursday afternoon and waived extradition to Pennsylvania. The charge against him alleged that he told a law enforcement officer in Pittsburgh Oct. 2: "Remember my name. Because I will assassinate the President if the troops aren't out of Vietnam by 1970."

Bomber Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Brig. Gen. Guy M. Townsend, a native of Houston, Tex., with more than 8,000 hours flying time, Friday was named systems program director for development of the new supersonic Air Force bomber, the B1.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi's leaders predicted Friday that a federal court order requiring total integration by the end of next month would result in many schools either losing or becoming all-black.

"The effect of this decree, in most instances, will make quality education for these children an utter impossibility," said Gov. John Bell Williams, referring to an order involving 100,000 pupils in 30 Mississippi school districts.

"In all cases it will be

9 Injured in Racial Fighting

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (U) — Fighting involving about 100 black and white students broke out Friday outside Springfield Technical High School and four students were arrested, police said.

Nine students were injured and a woman passerby was knocked down during the scuffles, which were quelled when 15 policemen arrived and cleared the area.

But police said gangs of pupils of both races then roamed the area, breaking home and store windows and tearing down signs.

School officials had decided to close the school early after scuffling broke out in the cafeteria during the lunch hour.

As the students filed out of school, fighting erupted involving about 50 black and 50 white students.

disruptive, with educational processes brought to a sudden halt," Williams said.

The order was made by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Thursday, setting Dec. 31 as the date for execution of the Supreme Court's recent "desegregate now" ruling.

State Atty. Gen. A. F. Summer said he believed some schools would close, particularly in areas where blacks heavily outnumber whites.

"I LOOK FOR a lot of our school districts to become all black," Summer said. "This has been the trend nationwide whenever the percentages of blacks and whites exceed 20 to 25 per cent."

NEGATIVE DATA

seeking full or part-time federal employment because the practice leads to blacklisting. Persons on such blacklists seldom if ever have the right to confront those who feed the information to federal agencies.

The groups concerned with blacklisting contend that unsubstantiated claims of abnormal behavior and participation in political activities, usually left-wing, find their way into security "data banks" of many federal agencies.

According to the contentions, the agencies then trade the information among themselves. Information that might be regarded as innocuous in one agency might be regarded as extremely damaging in another.

The concerned groups are seeking to determine who has access to the information, what criteria are used to judge its potential harmfulness to an individual, and how it can be used against him.

The New York Times reported last month that blacklists of scientists nominated for part-time advisory positions had been drawn up within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The sources of the information that was used against the scientists had to be explained.

LEGAL AND scientific groups also contend that in recent years participation in demonstrations protesting the United States' involvement in the Vietnam War has been regarded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as "negative information." The practice, it is alleged, has the secondary effect of stifling legitimate protest.

In some areas, he said, there probably will be "a real movement for development of private schools."

The attorney general disclosed that his staff would try to find legal means to "obtain a reversal of this terrible situation." Summer did not elaborate, but Gov. Williams said that "while the outlook is grim we do have remaining several avenues of possible relief."

Mississippi has no compulsory attendance law requiring children to go to school. Many white parents unable to pay the $500 or $600 annual cost of a private school education are expected to keep their children out of school rather than send them to predominantly black classes.

Warner stated emphatically that the Secret Service would not allow information collected under the guidelines to be used in this manner.

He pointed out that the Warren Commission report contained a "sample letter" that might be sent by the service to local police chiefs asking for information needed for the protection of the President.

THE INTENT of the letter is to allow the Secret Service to more easily amass and digest information on persons who might threaten the president, members of his family or high officials, as congress subsequently authorized the secret service to do.

Yet the language of the guidelines contrasts sharply with that of the sample letter, which does not contain references to embarrassment, civil disturbances and other things mentioned in the guidelines.

Caterer Held in Shooting of Policeman

PETALUMA (U) — A city policeman was shot in the neck and seriously wounded Friday while investigating a disturbance.

Walter Hale, 51-year-old caterer, was booked for investigation of attempted murder and assault on a police officer.

Patrolman Vilho Ahola was struck once in the neck by a bullet from a .25-caliber pistol.

Nixon Fumbled Chance on Ho Letter -- Muskie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, accused President Nixon Friday of fumbling a chance to seize on a confidential letter by the late North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh last summer as an opening wedge toward peace.

Nixon disclosed an exchange of letters with Ho that he initiated in mid-July during his Monday night speech to the nation on Vietnam as evidence of his futile efforts to persuade Hanoi to bargain seriously for peace. Ho's Aug. 23 reply, he said, "flatly rejected my initiative."

But Muskie told the Senate that Ho's letter was "not a hard-nosed, flat rejection" and "might have opened up a diplomatic initiative of great value." But Nixon, he said, gave a speech which "offered nothing new on the diplomatic scales."

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., agreed with Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate who is regarded as a leading contender to oppose Nixon in the 1972 election. Pell said he thought "Ho's remarks left the door wide open."

Their criticism of Nixon's characterization of Ho's letter, written eight days before his death in Hanoi, followed introduction of a resolution by Senate leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott urging Nixon to seek a mutual cease-fire and free elections in Vietnam and supporting his negotiation efforts.

Kerr Asks Cease-Fire Proposal

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Clark Kerr, speaking for the "silent majority of Americans," called on President Nixon Friday to publicly propose an internationally supervised cease-fire in Vietnam swiftly followed by free elections, land reform and economic aid.

This, Kerr said, "would put pressure on the Communists to negotiate in good faith a program that can end all the killing and give them fair access to the political process in South Vietnam."

Kerr, former chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley and now chairman of the national committee for a political settlement in Vietnam, said the committee believes "there is a silent majority of Americans who are deeply troubled about the war and want to see it end in a way that does not mean victory or defeat for either side."

It was "tragic," he said, that debate on Vietnam was "polarizing between those who call for immediate unilateral withdrawal and those who would continue the war insisting we had done everything possible for peace..."

porting his negotiation efforts.

The resolution attracted the support of 40 senators, 26 of them Republican, but only a handful of the Senate's antiwar bloc. Scott told newsmen the White House believed the resolution would serve a very good purpose.

dress of their grievances," Kleindienst said.

"We also believe that the federal government has an obligation to preserve order in the city and in the march itself."

He added that he believes "both of these goals are satisfied" under the arrangement for the Constitution Avenue route.

But he did not explain why government officials consider Constitution Avenue, which roughly parallels Pennsylvania a block to the south, is more likely to minimize the danger of violence.

Claiming "a substantial likelihood" violence would occur during the mass march, the department announced Thursday that "under no circumstances" would the demonstrators be allowed to use Pennsylvania Avenue.

Estimates of the number of persons likely to show up for the three-day demonstration range from

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla.

(U) — President Nixon Friday signed a congressional measure declaring a national day of prayer Sunday on behalf of servicemen being held prisoner by the North Vietnamese.

100,000 to 500,000, with New Mobilization Committee leaders generally saying 250,000.

As outlined by Kleindienst, the mass demonstration will begin at the foot of Capitol Hill, proceed down Third Street to Constitution, then west on Constitution past the Ellipse and the south front of the White House to 17th Street and from there to the Washington Monument.

Kleindienst said the department hopes the coordinators of the demonstration will accept the government's offer. But if not, he said, the government is willing to continue negotiations on other alternatives.

He said also the department is making arrangements with the committee to provide parking, health and sanitation facilities and other necessities for those planning to take part in the demonstration.

"would serve a very good purpose."

Muskie noted that Ho referred to the National Liberation Front's 10-point program as "a logical and reasonable basis for the settlement of the Vietnamese problem" and not the only basis for a settlement as he said Hanoi had insisted in the past.

"And Ho's concluding sentence—that 'with good will on both sides, we might arrive at common efforts in view of finding a correct solution to the Vietnam problem'—was probably as forthcoming a generality as the old revolutionary had ever addressed in confidence to a Western leader at any time in his long lifetime," Muskie said.

Muskie said Nixon's disclosure of the exchange with Ho and a series of secret meetings between Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Hanoi representatives in Paris could jeopardize any hope of a diplomatic settlement of the war.

Back Nixon in Streets, Says Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, an outspoken foe of antiwar protests in the streets, Friday urged citizens to counter demonstrate for "peace without surrender in Southeast Asia."

Reagan was in Paris, but in a statement issued by his press office he called on Californians to support President Nixon's policies in Vietnam by actively observing the "Week of National Unity" Sunday through Nov. 16.

Antiwar groups are preparing a second nationwide war protest next week. Reagan had denounced participants in the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium activities as "lending comfort and aid" to the enemy.

"A massive observance of the Week of National Unity will be a clear message to Hanoi — that we are a people united in our search for a just peace, but that peace cannot and will not be obtained at the price of surrender," he said.

Peoples Park Riot Report Widely Critical

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Alameda County Grand Jury Friday ended a five-month investigation of the Peoples Park riots in Berkeley with a report criticizing almost everyone involved in the disorders in which one person was killed and scores injured.

The six-page report said "revolutionaries" deliberately tried to provoke the May 15 outbreak.

However, it also said the University of California, the City of Berkeley, law officers and the public at large did not take all adequate steps to head off the "disastrous confrontation" or respond properly when it occurred.

THE RIOT was touched off when "street people," backed by many students, moved onto university land planned for use as an athletic field and turned it into a "peoples park" complete with grass and shrubs.

The university evicted

Nixon Viet Policy Supported

HONOLULU (AP) — Western Republican leaders unanimously offered "full and unlimited support" Friday to President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

National committeemen and women and state chairmen representing 13 western states adopted two resolutions supporting the President in the final session of the Western States Republican Conference.

One declared backing to the President, American troops in Vietnam and their families. It said the conferees "join with the vast majority of the American people in supporting a just and lasting peace in Vietnam."

The second declared "the great majority of the American people silently support this nation's effort in Vietnam." I urged Americans to send the President telegrams of support during the forthcoming Vietnam Moratorium demonstrations scheduled to begin Nov. 9.

The conference also urged the Senate to confirm the appointment of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court immediately.

Auto Kills Pedestrian

Teicho Matsuda, 82, was killed Friday by an auto while crossing a Westminster street.

Matsuda, of 7071 Spruce St., Westminster, was dead on arrival at Westminster Community Hospital moments after the 5:25 p.m. accident at Spruce and Locust Street.

Donald Blackstone, 38, of Mission Viejo, driver of the auto said he didn't see the pedestrian at the time of the mishap. He was not held.

JESS UNRUH AND WIFE, VIRGINIA, AT FRESNO AIRPORT
Couple Will Attend 1970 Democratic Strategy Conference Over Weekend.

Unruh, Alioto Criticize Gov. Reagan's Labor Views

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

FRESNO — Jess Unruh and Joseph Alioto, current chief prospects for the Democratic challenge to Gov. Ronald Reagan next year, mounted similar attacks on Reagan's labor views Friday but disagreed on which candidate could better hold Democrats together.

Alioto, mayor of San Francisco, and Assembly Minority Leader Unruh made their remarks at separate press conferences on the eve of a weekend "Project '70 Conference" sponsored by the Democratic State Central Committee.

Referring to Reagan's words in Anaheim last weekend that he would use strikebreakers if public employees left their jobs, Alioto said, "Anyone who suggests we should have scabs in California would set the state's industrial history back 50 years ... it amounts to warfare against labor unions ... an outrageous proposal."

THE MAYOR said public employees should have collective bargaining and the right to strike, with five exceptions — policemen, firemen, garbage men, transit and hospital workers.

Unruh said it is most important not to create conditions that would precipitate strikes, intimating that Reagan's course may serve to agitate public employees to strike.

"I think public employees ought not be to second class citizens on any basis," said Unruh. "As long as we have the machinery to provide for public health, safety and welfare then I think they ought to be accorded the right any other employee has in the private sector."

Unruh, reminded that Alioto indicated at a morning press conference that he might better bring together the various segments of the Democratic Party. Unruh answered: "In last year's primary we put together the activists like never before, and that's about the best demonstration anybody could give."

ALIOTO and Unruh will appear on a panel today before an expected 1,000 delegates. Also scheduled for the panel are potential rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Riverside, and Rep. George E. Brown, D-Monterey Park.

U.S. Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., will speak at tonight's convention banquet.

Delegates will form discussion groups today to try to identify target legislative districts for intensive 1970 campaigning. The party hopes to regain control of the state Legislature. Republicans now have control 21-19 in the Senate and 41-39 in the Assembly.

Youth Cons Marines, Brig Time Tamed Him

United Press International

A 16-year-old boy, masquerading as a Marine recruit, underwent nearly two weeks of infantry training and spent 24 hours in the Camp Pendleton brig before he was unmasked.

Ledell Parker of Anderson, Ind., used the name of Pvt. Robert A. Jenkins, a real Marine recruit who went AWOL last Oct. 20. Young Parker's short career in the Corps began three days later.

A base spokesman Friday said Parker surrendered to Los Angeles police Oct. 23 and identified himself as Jenkins. The police turned him over to the shore patrol.

Two days later, Parker, alias Jenkins, arrived at Camp Pendleton by way of the Marine Recruit Depot in San Diego. He was assigned to a basic infantry training battalion.

On Oct. 27, he was given "office hours," a minor form of punishment, for Jenkins' three-day unauthorized absence. He later was assigned to Jenkins' old training company, but all the other recruits were new and nobody noticed the difference.

The Marines said Parker answered to Jenkins name at roll calls and signed his name on the punishment log as Jenkins. After "acting up" in a correctional unit where he was sent for falling to obey an order, Parker-Jenkins was sent to the brig.

A WEEK AGO Friday night, he complained of a nose bleed and feeling dizzy. At the base hospital he said he was really Parker. A comparison of dental records showed he was telling the truth.

Nobody knows where Pvt. Jenkins is.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

No doubt you've heard it said that before the days of chemical sprays and poisons, farmers planted more seeds than they expected to grow. As they sowed the seeds they rhymed, "One for the beetle, one for the crow, one for the cutworm, and one to grow."

Present day gardeners would agree, the farmers forgot to add in two more seeds, "One for the snail, and one for the slug, those sneaky night feeding plant spoilers!"

IN 1951 THERE was quite a scare about the large African snails thought to have been brought in on some returned military equipment from the Tropics.

The African giant or great snail (Achatina) are a genus of air-breathing land (mollusks.) Their spiral-shell measures three-inches long by one-and-a-half-inches wide. They stretch nine to 10 inches in length when moving and are known to be voracious eaters that could strip a mature citrus tree of foliage in a short time, and even eat the paint off the side of the house. None of those snails were found but Florida now seems to be worried about African snails.

When the excitement in the Southland died down, people learned there are two kinds of garden snails, the milk or field snail that caused confusion pertaining to African snails, and the common European snail. The milk snail and the common snail are somewhat similar in size. The milk snail's shell has a pretty design of white and dark brown stripes running its length. It is hard and has a more "tailor" finished than the tan or brown and softer shell of the common snail. The milk snail is found less commonly in gardens. The most distinguishing feature between the two types of snails is the black bottom area of the milk snail, as compared with the gray color of the common snail.

OCCASIONALLY, during hot summer spells some stray snails aestivate (hibernate). They form a hard plastic-like cover across the shell opening, seal themselves within for a period of time and cling to the tree or plant trunk, house wall, telephone pole or lath.

The snails and slugs are active right now. The snails are nearsighted but have a keen sense of smell. They are attracted to an snail-slug bait that has an enticing smell. One whiff and they can't make tracks fast enough to get to the bait. As soon as they grab the first mouthful they become paralyzed, foam and froth at the mouth. They soon dehydrate. Eventually they disintegrate. Only the empty snail shells remain and hardly any vestige of the slugs.

One pound of the bait should cover 1,200 square feet applied after a watering of the garden and lawn. Two more applications at week to 10 day intervals does a good control job, unless the neighbor doesn't snail bait his own garden.

THE FLOSS SILK TREE (Chorisia speciosa) a native of Brazil, was introduced by the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia. It is an unusual flowering tree for Southern California. Even when not in bloom, this tree is attractive because of the thorny-spiked, tapering trunk with light green bark, and large palmate leaves. The trees start blooming in late October or November and for several months are spectacular with generous displays of pink lily-

Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

Q. — Is there any ground cover that grows fast in clay soil and that would be ok in looks with Mazus reptans; also are there chemical to use to keep weeds from growing in this mazus reptans?

A. — Lysimachia nummularia "Moneywort" is a low creeper that grows two to four inches high, in sun or shade, stands wet conditions and has bright yellow flowers in spring and summer. No, I'd hesitate to recommend any broad-leaf weed spray on account of the ground cover. About the only kind of spray I could recommend would be for control of grass weeds only. This is Dowpon. Check with your local nurseryman about its use.

Q. — My navel orange tree has lots of fruit on it, but some of the young fruit turns yellow and bursts open before it matures. Can you tell me what to do to correct this condition?

A. — You didn't state whether it is a large mature tree, or a younger one, whether it is growing in open soil area or in a lawn, whether the soil is heavy clay or a medium type or is coarse and sandy. So—I have to guess. If tree is in a lawn it usually doesn't produce as well as one in open soil area. If it happened when the past two hot spells occurred, the drastic weather change could have affected the fruit. Older mature trees may not be affected. Evidently the tree foliage is a good green color.

like blossoms which measure as much as five inches across. The blooms do not do for cut flowers as they don't last when detached from the tree.

Some of the trees develop heavy brown seed pods which look like small avocados, slightly flattened, following the faded blooms. The pods when open have seeds in orderly arrangements on beds of white silk floss-like material. It is a relative of the kapok tree of commerce.

Carson Adds 7,777 to Top City Growth

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The number of people in Carson grew by 7,777 from July 1, 1968 to July 1, 1969, and in Cerritos by 4,537, and there lay all the county's spectacular population changes.

Los Angeles, as usual, led all cities in increasing the number of its residents. It added 26,144. But the difference, with totals of 2,841,541 and 2,867,685 for the successive years, was less than 1 per cent.

In Long Beach the story was the same. The county's second largest city grew by 1,374, from 383,378 to 384,752, and that works out to only about 1.3 of 1 per cent.

THE FIGURES ARE ESTIMATES drawn by the county Regional Planning Commission through a complicated formula, based on numbers of housing units.

Mostly the planners found little evidence of growth.

Measuring percentages, they found Cerritos pacing all cities, going from 6,367 to 10,904 over the year. Carson went from 60,732 to 68,509.

County-wide, they saw a continuing decline in population gain. From Jan. 1, 1968 to Jan. 1, 1969 the increase was 67,168. Over the first six months of this year the curve flattened further, to 30,384.

Among the cities, through the fiscal, not the calendar, year, the trend toward non-motion reached its absolute in two places. Avalon registered 1,682 both times, and tiny Vernon 218.

Hawaiian Gardens' population increased by seven, to 8,380; Paramount by 74, to 34,371; Bellflower by 319, to 57,291; and Compton 268, to 77,521.

SOME CITIES REGISTERED declining population, three — Bell, Lomita and Palos Verdes Estates — after having special censuses.

Bell dropped 950, to 22,032; Lomita 880, to 19,402; and Palos Verdes Estates 223, to 13,013.

Changes in population in other cities in the southwestern end of the county follow:

Lakewood, up 671 to 87,898; Rolling Hills, 23 to 2,082; Rolling Hills Estates, 403 to 6,607; Signal Hill, 74 to 5,468; and Torrance, 3,663 to 137,510.

Orange Co. Man Gets Home Post Grove Man Convicted of Plotting to Kill Girl

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Floyd G. McLellan Jr., Orange County building and safety director, was appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday to the 11-member Advisory Committee on Factory-Built Housing.

The committee, created by the Legislature in its last session, will help prepare a uniform code for prefabricated housing. The legislation is designed to hasten construction of housing for low-income families.

Reed was convicted by a jury of six men and six women, after two hours of deliberation, finding him guilty of soliciting to commit burglary, and attempting to hire an assassin to kill her. He was ordered to appear for sentencing Nov. 28.

Reed allegedly plotted with Gene Pool, who claimed he pretended to "go along" with the plot. Pool is a Huntington Beach police officer. He arranged Reed's arrest Aug. 22.

Assessor Legal Aid Disputed in Court

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

The Orange County Counsel's office asked the Appellate Court Friday to deny special counsel to County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw in his battle with the supervisors over assessment handling.

Clayton Parker, chief assistant county counsel, drew up a detailed answer to Hinshaw's petition for a writ of mandamus in which he charged County Counsel Adrian Kuyper with "conflict of interest."

"There is clearly a difference of opinion, but no conflict of interest," Parker insisted in his answer.

He maintained that Hinshaw "does not show what, if any, conflict of interest exists," thus echoing the supervisory opinion when they denied the assessor's plea for a private attorney.

BASIS OF Hinshaw's claim then was that Kuyper had discussed one of his proposed rulings with the Irvine Co., involving an exchange of land in Upper Newport Bay, before informing Hinshaw.

The assessor balked at the land exchange approved by the supervisors and refused to approve it. He held that the county was being deprived of properties it could not legally trade, and that the company was trying to "give the county some land it already owns."

Hinshaw has been at war with the supervisors since 1966, when they made tax concessions to the big Laguna Niguel

Rain-Washed Face of State's Cleanest City

Under billowing clouds, Long Beach's sparkling strand gleams in sunlight following Thursday and Friday rains. Wind blew storm into International City but also blew good news when California Anti-Litter League honored Long Beach as the state's cleanest city. Judges were impressed by local clean-up program, specifically the daily manicuring of local beaches. "Cleanest city with the most sparkling environment," reads the full award, to be presented at a banquet Nov. 17, by Gov. Ronald Reagan. The award includes a $10,000 sculpture to display for one year and a $1,000 cash award for the Chamber of Commerce's Long Beach Beautiful Committee. Judges in the clean cities contest were Norman Livermore, state director of natural resources; Mrs. Milton Bell of Walnut Creek, Federated Garden Clubs of California president, and Calvin Hamilton, Los Angeles planning director.

Teachers Eye Drive to Hike State Funding

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

A decision whether the California Teachers Association will spearhead a constitutional amendment next year "to again make the state an equal partner in financing education" is expected today during closing sessions in Los Angeles of the group's policy-making council.

With council support—which informed sources say is almost certain—CTA will embark immediately upon a petition-signing drive as first step in putting a constitutional amendment on a June 1970 ballot.

Also proposed to the council is a preliminary $1.9-million budget, to be raised largely among the membership, to finance a campaign.

In essence the proposed amendment would require the state to return to pre-1953 fiscal support levels in which Sacramento funded 50 per cent of public school costs. Since the middle 1950s that level has dropped steadily, to today's statewide average of about 35 per cent.

(Some district are even lower. Long Beach this year received fractionally less than 25 per cent from Sacramento.)

Rees emphasized the amendment also would be "a kind of local property tax relief."

The state's share would be raised through broader sources, he said, tapping revenues from income, sales, liquor and other taxes.

He warned that the measure is urgently needed because "school costs should and will continue to rise in California" because of inflation, necessity to further improve teacher salaries, need for improved pupil-teacher ratios, and wide-gauge improvements in the quality of education.

Rees in addition told members of progress being made by CTA in two other areas — teacher retirement and negotiations with school boards.

He "served notice" on local school trustees that CTA "shall not tolerate failure to engage in good faith negotiating" over salaries and other discussable points.

Purse Snatchers' Victim Identified

The identity of an elderly woman critically injured when attacked by two purse snatchers on a Long Beach street Tuesday night was established by police Friday.

Officers said the victim is Mrs. Gertrude Nickerson, 87, of the Kennedy Hotel, 206 Long Beach Blvd.

Police learned who she was after she failed to return to the hotel where she has lived for 19 years.

The hotel manager reported her missing, then accompanied police to Harbor General Hospital and made the identification.

Mrs. Nickerson is listed in "very critical" condition in the hospital's intensive care unit, where she is under treatment for a fractured skull, broken arm and internal injuries.

The elderly victim was knocked to the ground by her assailants on Long Beach Boulevard north of First Street at 9:50 p.m., Tuesday.

Officers said her only identification apparently was in the stolen purse.

Investigators said at least a dozen similar cases involving sneak attacks on elderly women have been reported within the past few weeks.

Letters, Petitions Urge City to Ban Fireworks Sale

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

Nearly 50 individual letters and two petitions bearing 73 signatures—all urging the City Council to keep the ban on the sale of fireworks in Long Beach—were filed Friday with the city clerk.

The council's ordinance committee, by a 3-to-1 vote last Monday, recommended to the full council that it repeal the present ordinance which prohibits selling fireworks in the city.

Although the recommendation is not on the agenda for Wednesday's council meeting, a number of residents have indicated they plan to attend the session to protest. The meeting will be on Wednesday, because Tuesday is Veterans' Day.

THE COUNCIL received two new applications Friday for permits to sell fireworks, if the ordinance should be repealed, but also was asked by two of the original 44 applicants to withdraw their requests.

Marvin Marker, director of the Long Beach Junior Concert Band, said the musical group, after further consideration, has decided "a youth group should limit its activities to those money-raising functions which are not potentially dangerous."

Bethel No. 109, Long Beach Job's Daughters, asked to be "deleted from the previous list submitted by a local fireworks company," and urged that sale of fireworks in Long Beach be restricted "as a safety measure."

The two new applications were from Long Beach Group VII, Civil Air Patrol, signed by Arthur E. Biddle, Lt. Col., CAP, commander; and from Boy Scout Troop 120, signed by Scoutmaster David C. Costello, 1913 Vuella Grande Ave.

COUNCILMEN received a letter from Everett E. Miller Jr., president of the Long Beach Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, which said any local Scout group would need approval of the council to participate in the sale of fireworks.

"Because of the safety hazards involved, the Long Beach Area Council, BSA, would seriously question the advisability of any scout group engaging in the operation of a fireworks stand and the sale of fireworks," Miller wrote.

Objections to repealing the fireworks ban were filed by the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach.

"It appears a concerted effort has been made by vested interests to lull non-profit civic organizations into thinking fireworks are safe, and the sale of them is an excellent way to raise money," wrote Frank Antonelli, association president.

"Experience gathered by the insurance industry has proven fireworks, including the so-called safe kind, are not safe, but instead, very dangerous," Antonelli said.

Charles E. Anderson, president of the Southern Division, California Fire Chiefs' Association, said "there are no 'safe and sane' fireworks, and this definition alone defies the intelligence we are each born with."

"HOW DO you justify the education of children each and every year on the hazards of fire and playing with matches, only to find that eight days each year, you turn your head the other way and say 'go ahead'?" he asked.

Several firemen were among the writers of protest letters.

"My own son was injured by so-called safe and sane fireworks two years ago," wrote fireman Roy McIntire, 231 Tivoli Drive. "His injury was an adequate demonstration to me that the only 'safe' fireworks are those viewed from afar."

Commenting on arguments that fireworks sales are legal in adjacent communities, Fire Capt. Merle Combs, 2249 Tulane Ave., said "gambling is legal in Las Vegas and drugs can be had in Mexico, but do we want them free for the weak to have in Long Beach?"

Councilmen were urged by Mrs. Jerome R. Salverson, 3160 Chatswin Ave., to "listen to Chief Rizzo (Fire Chief Tullio Rizzo), whose only concern is the welfare of the City of Long Beach, and not to the individual whose only interest is the making of a fast buck."

"I DON'T want to see our children maimed, blinded or killed just so a few individuals or organizations can make money—no matter how good a use that money is put to," wrote Danny B. Lester, 4435 E. Ocean Blvd.

In a related move, the Long Beach Safety Council and Citizens-Police Relations Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, joined the protest against repeal of the fireworks ban.

Jack Beckwith, president, and Charles Smith, managing director of the Safety Council, plan to appear before the council to voice personal opposition.

Doctors to Talk About Drugs, Sex

By BEN ZINSEK
Medical-Science Editor

The "hang loose generation" and drugs and sex are among topics to be discussed by physicians at the seventh annual obstetrics and gynecology symposium in Long Beach Wednesday.

The all-day meeting will be held in the Edgewater Hyatt House Hotel under sponsorship of the Long Beach Obstetrical and Gynecological Society.

Dr. John C. Pollard, associate professor of psychiatry at University of Michigan medical center, will discuss problems dealing with sex and drugs.

Dr. R.A. Kinch, obstetrician and gynecologist-in-chief at Montreal General Hospital, Canada, will speak on "The Physician As a Marriage Counselor" and the training of medical students in giving advice in sex matters.

Dr. Richard H. Paul, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Yale University school of medicine, will discuss monitoring of the fetus and the management of fetal distress.

Officers of the sponsoring organization are Dr. Edward J. Obeji, president; Dr. Robert M. Crawford, president-elect; Dr. Raymond Matthews, secretary; and Dr. John H. Gauger, treasurer.

Dr. Keith White of Long Beach will preside at a question-and-answer panel during the luncheon session.

Court Annex Bond Issue Up to Board

From Our L. A. Bureau

A proposed $3,390,000 bond issue for construction of a six-story annex to the Long Beach courthouse will come before the Board of Supervisor Tuesday for approval.

The Long Beach-Los Angeles County Civic Center Authority, which will handle the financing arrangements, sent its resolution to the county.

Five additional courtrooms and facilities to serve them are in the plans for the annex.

Building Permits Top $3 Million in Week

For the third time in the five working days this month, the value of building permits issued by the city topped the $1-million mark Friday.

Two permits issued to Union Pacific Railroad Co. for a conveyor system at 1030 Pier G Ave. for handling petroleum coke made up virtually all Friday's total.

The city issued UPRR Co. one permit for a $460,000 conveyor, and a second for a $600,000 storage building and control room. William J. Moran Co. is the contractor on the project, with Ken O'Brien & Associates, engineers.

Valuation for November to date now exceeds $3.5 million, while the 1969 total to date is over $38 million, not including electrical and plumbing work.

Homecoming: for Real or for Mickey Mouse?

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

"Beat the Bulldogs!" yelled a fresh-faced coed Friday as the California State College at Long Beach Marching Band stepped briskly across campus to the beat of a big bass drum.

"It's all a lot of bull," muttered another student, walking away. "Why don't they get relevant?"

Although about 150 students followed the band to the speakers platform where cheerleaders tried to raise spirits for the homecoming game against the Fresno State Bulldogs, it was apparent enthusiasm for traditional collegiate activities is waning.

A Fall Festival was held on campus Friday night—featuring rallies, naming of "Miss CSLE" and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band—and the Brown and Gold will kick off against Fresno's Bulldogs at the Vets Stadium tonight.

But events leading up to alterations in this year's homecoming included:

— The near-victory of Dr. Max Rafferty, acid-tongued state superintendent of public instruction, in the election for homecoming queen last fall.

— Withdrawal of the college's Interfraternity Council from this year's float building activities for the traditional homecoming parade.

— Cancellation of the parade after only one float-building application was received—from the Associated Womens Residents, a dorm group—instead of the minimum 12 necessary.

— Near-unanimous passage of a student senate resolution that would initiate combining next fall's homecoming with spring 49er Days and replacing homecoming with "an activity that would be of interest to more people."

— Discussion whether the campus Diamond Jim competition—another traditional activity in keeping with the 49er theme—should be abolished.

This year the Fall Festival—a stopgap measure to replace float-building and the homecoming parade—drew several hundred students Friday night.

Joyce Schneider, a senior, was elected Miss Cal-State Long Beach in three days of balloting. She'll be crowned at the Vets Stadium game tonight. Unlike the traditional homecoming queen, she'll reign over college activities the entire year.

Student elections officials said Vice President Spiro Agnew received 15 write-in votes in the queen election. Larry Buchanan, a former student senator who introduced the resolution to phase out homecoming, said only "1 to 3 per cent" of the student body—most the them from fraternities and sororities—were participating in recent homecomings.

"Last year's homecoming theme was 'Salute to Walt Disney,'" Buchanan said. "That was appropriate. Homecoming is Mickey Mouse. It's high-schoolish."

"The whole idea of alumni coming back just to see some floats is absurd," he said. "They don't turn out. This is a school without traditions and it's ridiculous to try to import traditions like homecoming from other schools."

Buchanan proposed replacing homecoming with a Renaissance Fair, a community involvement program "or something else that would be relevant to today's students."

Phil Tondreault, deputy administrator for the Associated Students, said a replacement for homecoming was still under discussion.

"We're looking for something that will involve more students, alumni and people from the community," he said. "Homecoming wasn't worth the tremendous effort and expense. The fraternities are trying to make themselves more relevant and they saw it wasn't in the best interest of the college."

Week's Wall Street Trend

By HOWARD LUXENBERG

Vietnam address this week and stocks finished higher in moderate trading.

In fact, in the final stages of the week some cheering economic news and a big jump in American Telephone, the nation's most widely held issue, apparently pushed Vietnam off to the sidelines as the major market influence.

"The war issue has been temporarily removed as the overriding factor on Wall Street," commented Nelson Zinder of E. F. Hutton brokerage, "assuming there is no dramatic breakthrough on the peace front." Zinder said investors would shift their attention to the nation's interest rate structure.

On this topic, Milton Friedman, a leading economist, predicted that record high interest rates, primarily responsible for the market's deep slide early in the year, soon would come down.

This helped inflate demand. So did a statement from Gordon W. McKinley, vice president and treasurer of McGraw-Hill, that the nation's gross national product will surge ahead quickly in late 1970 after holding steady during the early months of the year.

AS FOR NIXON'S VIETNAM SPEECH, Herman Roseman of Argus Research Corp., an investment advisory service, said the market became "too optimistic too soon," and some disenchantment was inevitable. But he noted that Washington still was moving toward a gradual troop withdrawal and this is a potential bullish factor.

Eldon Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co. brokerage, said that while the investment community again was made aware that peace will be "a long painful process," the shock was not as great as it might have been due to earlier hints not to expect a surprise peace announcement.

The UPI marketwide indicator closed 0.90 per cent to 110.28. Of the 1,745 issues crossing the tape, 917 advanced, 687 declined. There were 113 new highs set, and 48 new lows.

The New York Stock Exchange common stock index rose 62 cents to $55.07. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks added 1.02 to 98.26.

The Dow Jones average of 30 Blue Chip industrials climbed 4.49 to 860.48. DJ utilities picked up 0.07 to 119.09, but rails backed off 1.04 to 199.16.

Turnover aggregated 60,013,910 shares, down from 62,895,500 shares a week earlier. But was well above the 49,504,260 shares which changed hands during the year ago period.

Cronyn Gives Brilliant Life to Mythical Pope Hadrian

By ROBERT C. WYLDER
Drama Critic

According to my Columbia Encyclopedia, there never was a Pope Hadrian VII. The Hadrians went through VI and stopped. But that same encyclopedia doesn't mention Hume Cronyn, either, and there is certainly no doubt that he exists. He is, as a matter of fact, diligently and brilliantly bringing Hadrian VII to life six nights and two afternoons a week at the Ahmanson Theater of the Music Center in Los Angeles. The run of this totally fascinating theatrical event ends on November 22. If you want to meet a very lively and distinctive Pope, you had better make arrangements for tickets soon. When Cronyn leaves town and goes on, as one hopes he will for years, to other things, Hadrian VII goes back to nonexistence.

That will be a rather a pity, for he is a remarkable Pope, a neurotic, bitter, thoroughly despicable little failure of a man transformed by his unlikely elevation to the pontificate into a just, compassionate, and even loving cleric who defies the ecclesiastical establishment and insists upon emphasizing the spiritual over the temporal power. He even goes so far as to propose to sell the Vatican treasure to succor the poor and the suffering everywhere, Catholic or Protestant or heathen. Here is God's servant indeed!

Whence comes the paragon of Popes? He emerges from the head and pen of Frederick William Rolfe, alias Baron Corvo, alias Austin, alias Hockheimer, a Victorian writer and journalist and a failure at both, an intense, destitute egotist whose overwhelming conviction of his genius calling to the cloth provides the imaginative energy for his only significant work, a novel called "Hadrian VII." In it he becomes Hadrian, Baron Corvo exalted to the throne of Peter.

Playing both Rolfe the writer and Hadrian the Pope, Rolfe's alter ego, Hume Cronyn fashions a synthesis in characterization which makes clear that Rolfe and Hadrian are one underneath the exterior differences and yet in some ways quite unlike one another. Rolfe is weak, wounded by life, vindictive, hurtful to those around him; Hadrian is strong, forgiving, sure of his calling and destiny to the violent end of his brief reign. The two co-exist in Cronyn's masterful portrayals. All in all he manages one of the subtlest, strongest, and most sensitive acting performances I have ever seen. I really don't know whether the Peter Luke play is a good one: its star's powerful theatrical presence makes any other consideration almost irrelevant. The play is his masterpiece from beginning to end.

HE HAS MORE than adequate assistance, of course. The rest of the cast is strong and well balanced, and the costumes gorgeous.

GRACE DUNCAN appears as Helen Chao in Flower Drum Song being staged at Jordan Auditorium through Sunday night. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical is about life in San Francisco's Chinatown. The Long Beach Civic Light Opera presentation is concluding the second week of its run.

MOVIE GUIDE

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. Most classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of national organizations.

MARLOWE — James Garner portrays "private eye" Philip Marlowe in a story of blackmail, narcotics and murder based on Raymond Chandler's novel "The Little Sister." (M)

THE COMIC — Carl Reiner directed and co-authored this film tracing the tragicomic career of an old-time, two-reel comic (Dick Van Dyke) from the 1920s to the present. (M)

DARBY O'GILL AND THE LITTLE PEOPLE — Darby, an Irish story teller, gets into a battle of wits with leprechauns who help two young people in love. A Walt Disney reissue. (G)

GOODYBYE, COLUMBUS — Novelist Philip Roth's pre-Portnoy bittersweet story of a romance between non-conformist librarian Richard Benjamin and rich girl Ali McGraw. (R)

ME, NATALIE — Patty Duke, 18-year-old daughter of a middle-class Brooklyn couple, moves to Greenwich Village, buys a motorcycle and has an affair with a married man as she grows toward self-assurance. (M)

SWEET CHARITY — Shirley MacLaine plays a dance hall hostess with a shady past and a heart of gold in this lavish musical adapted from the Broadway production. (G)

OLIVER — Fagin's gang of young hoodlums star in this lavish musical that has won six academy awards, including best picture of the year. (G)

RATINGS
G — Recommended for general audiences of all ages.

M — Suggested for mature audiences, adults and young people.

R — Restricted, persons under 16 not admitted unless accompanied by parents or adult guardian.

Granados Ensemble in L.B.

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

Funny things were happening—aside from the rainstorm—at our Long Beach Museum of Art Thursday night.

An ensemble called the Granados Chamber Septet, specializing, obviously, in Spanish music of the 20th century, was scheduled to play the fourth event in this 17th season of bi-monthly Museum concerts.

The group did appear, as scheduled. But it left a strangely unfinished and unsatisfying impression.

"PICKUP GROUP" is an epithet some of my colleagues use too easily, when what they mean to describe are regularly associated musicians who have not rehearsed enough. Where the Granados ensemble is concerned, however, "pickup group" is just the right term.

Not only was this concert under-rehearsed, as could be heard in the group's ragged attacks, disastrous intonation, and shabby ensemble, but also, unless I miss my guess, these seven musicians and their conductor are intimately acquainted neither with each other nor with the music they essayed.

That program consists of arrangements, for this combination of woodwind quintet plus harp and soprano, of music by Enrique Granados and Albéniz, and some original pieces by one of Enrique's sons, Victoria Granados.

No less than five of Father Granados' twelve Spanish Dances are offered, plus three items from his "Colección de Tonadillas, escritas en estilo antiguo," and an unfamiliar piece the composer could not have been proud of, "Danza Lenta." In the Tonadillas, the evening's singer, Kay Francis, zonked some good high notes, in particular a fine "A" in "El Majo Discreto." Miss Francis also made the questionable writing in of vocal parts to the Dances seem excusable.

Conducting the Septet with a pencil was its leader and commentator, Jacque Robinson.

WAS JERSEY LEADER, TV PIONEER IN SEATTLE

Methodist Image, Temperance Discussed by Heights Pastor

By LES RODNEY

"Golden Mean" — the old Greek way of wisdom and reasonableness between extremes.

"I'm a Golden Mean man," says Rev. Dr. Lynn Hough Corson with a smile. "Nothing too much."

He's the new pastor up at California Heights United Methodist Church, and an interesting addition to Long Beach's corps of religious leaders. Actually he's been at the church at Bixby and Orange for some time now, but we just got around to spending the time of the day with him.

The subject of the moment was the image of Methodism, whether it has changed. This led smack into the ever-recurring church debate of the proper place for social involvement, and whether that involvement is sometimes at the expense of the evangelistic mission.

"I SUPPOSE the image of Methodism has changed somewhat," the pastor said, "and some of the change distresses me."

"As you know," he continued, "the Methodist Church was intensely evangelistic in its origins and thrust. With the coming of the social creed, the implementing of our Christian faith in action, there has been a tendency to go for 'causes.' I'm distressed when this is at the expense of the old warmth and evangelistic nature of our church, when it appears to be social per se."

"Now on the other hand, I'm suspicious of someone just saying we must get back to the spiritual. You see, that depends on what they mean. We HAVE a social responsibility, we can't divorce ourselves from the times. But the root of what we say and do has to be in the gospel."

That's where the old Golden Mean comes in, he believes. "Either - or is wrong in this case. Both spread well beyond Methodist — and church — circles up there when he became the pioneering Protestant participant for six years in a highly successful TV innovation called "Challenge," along with a Roman Catholic priest and a rabbi. The still-thriving program airs Sunday nights at 6, which is not unprime time. It tackles "the world and what it contains," with few holds barred.

DR. CORSON

"THE PROGRAM started in 1960 when John F. Kennedy was running for president," Corson recalls. "The rabbi was the spark-plug. He was worried about the spirit of divisiveness over the candidacy of a Catholic, and we all agreed to try the show. Just the idea of men of different backgrounds sitting and talking about all these things like friends again."

The program has been credited with a large role in the advancement of the ecumenical spirit in the Northwest.

"I broadened myself just by being in it," the pastor notes. He believes regular contact with other ideas helps a Methodist minister to be a better Methodist minister.

He cites one little example of the program's impact on the participants. "The priest felt that Protestants had no feeling for church tradition. I felt the Catholics didn't have a feeling for our biblical heritage. Over a period of time each began to see some merit in the other's point."

And how does a former Easterner compare Long Beach and Seattle?

"Well, my work is different here," he replied. "I was in a university situation up there, and also a central city situation in a way. It was more typically urban. This is more like suburbia. This congregation is a more homogenous are needed, in balance."

He rates the Southland's Bishop Gerald Kennedy, who has been pushed from both sides, as a good example of that balance.

DR. CORSON fills the pulpit formerly held by Dr. Paul Woudenberg, who took a year's study sabbatical and then moved up the shoreline to huge First Church in Santa Monica. The new pastor comes to Long Beach via his native New Jersey and Seattle. He made his presence very much felt in both those widely separated areas.

Back East, in addition to pastoring Methodist churches in several New Jersey cities, he was chairman at different times of the state Education Board, Board of Ministerial Training and Qualifications, and Board of Christian Social Concerns. A long-time fighter against the evils of alcohol, he has chaired the national Committee on Temperance.

In Seattle, he pastored the humming University Methodist Church, which borders the U. of Washington. Putting his talents where his theories are, the former "social concerns" chairman headed up the Pacific Northwest Conference's Board of Evangelism.

PRAYER DAY FOR VIET PRISONERS

America's churches have been asked to offer special prayers Sunday for the hundreds of U.S. servicemen who are prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Despite repeated pleas, North Vietnam has refused to give out the names — or even the total number — of the American prisoners it is holding. Available information indicates there are between 200 and 400 of them. Only 100 have been allowed to write to their families.

Only nine have been allowed repatriation to America, and their accounts suggest that conditions in North Vietnamese prisons are very grim.

The idea of setting aside Nov. 9 as a Day of Prayer for their welfare originated with an organization called "The National League of Families of American Prisoners in Southeast Asia," composed of wives, mothers and other relatives of American POWs.

The project received an official boost from Rear Adm. James W. Kelly chief of chaplains for the U.S. Navy. Kelly has asked all Navy chaplains to include a prayer for prisoners in Sunday's services.

FROM CONGO

Rev. Norman G. Riddle, who went with Mrs. Riddle to The Congo as a missionary in 1952, now evangelism secretary for the Western Congo Baptist Convention, will be guest speaker Sunday 11 a.m. at Immanuel Baptist Church, Third and Bishop. He was in The Congo during the forced evacuation of missionaries.

Pacific Christian Takes Convention to 5 Cities

Pacific Christian College of Long Beach will sponsor its 15th Annual Pacific Christian Convention next week in unusual form. Instead of several days in one location, the college is "taking the convention to the people" by scheduling sessions for two nights in five different cities, climaxed by a final "Giant Rally" in Long Beach.

On Wednesday and Thursday sessions will convene at Anaheim (First Christian Church), Escondido, Granada Hills, Lawdale (Church of Christ), and Riverside. Ten outstanding preachers have been chosen for these 10 sessions, ranging from a missionary to a college dean.

Christian Church, Eighth and Locust. The new college president, Dr. Medford H. Jones, will speak and be guest of honor at a reception.

The general public is welcome to attend all of these sessions. Gospel music by choirs and soloists will highlight each night. A children's session for ages 5 to 11 will be held simultaneously with the evening program, with a nursery will be maintained for the toddlers.

Dodgers' Star Shifts to Radio

The star first baseman for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Wes Parker, will join KFI radio.

Parker, who has been a regular guest on KFI's Dave Hull Show, will join Hull in a once-a-week feature. Hull's program is aired 7-11 p.m., Monday-Friday on KFI.

Parker will also do special reports and broadcasts for the KFI sports department in the future.

BIBLE STORY TELLER HERE

Ethel Barrett, noted author and story teller will be at the Lighthouse Gospel Bookstore, 1001 Pine Ave., today from 3 to 4 p.m., following her appearance at the 1 p.m. banquet of the Greater Los Angeles Sunday School (GLASS) convention in First Baptist Church. Miss Barrett will autograph her books at the bookstore, including the popular "There I Stood in All My Splendor," and "Don't Look Now."

'PX Prostitutes,' Blanket Sunday, Paddlin' Madayn

Prostitutes for the boys in Vietnam, officially offered by the military through the PXs!

That was the startling proposal put forward as a trial balloon by Brig. Gen. David E. Thomas, top medical officer over there. He's worried about the venereal disease rate, and wants public reaction to his proposal.

"BLAST THE GENERAL'S BALLOON" is the editorial reaction of the California Southern Baptist this week.

"We think (it) ought to be shot down with a blast that will be heard around the world," the paper says. "The VD rate in Vietnam is shocking — about 200 cases per 1000 men per year — but we hardly think the best way to combat the problem is to try to provide an anti-septic atmosphere for government-sponsored moral collapse... Has it not occurred to the general that we might have a responsibility to instill a sense of moral responsibility into the American serviceman?"

"SPACE: A NEW Direction for Mankind" is the title of a new book by Edward B. Lindaman, well known United Presbyterian lay leader and Apollo space executive at Downey. He is a persuasive arguer for full support of peaceful exploration by Christians. (Harper & Row, $4.95.)

WANT TO KNOW that you are doing something which is generous, and which sends your personal aid directly to another individual human being who is in need?

EQUALITY IN HOUSING DAY

Equal Opportunity in Housing Sunday has been proclaimed for this Sunday by the Long Beach Area Council of Churches, says Mrs. Wilma Sites, president.

The council, she said, "has no equivocation in its support of equal opportunity in housing for minority residents of the greater Long Beach area."

Congregants are asked to cooperate with the Fair Housing Foundation of Long Beach, starting with a pledge to welcome as their neighbors persons without regard to race, color, creed or national origin.

ment to share blankets with refugees and other unfortunates around the globe. The stockpile is almost bare after 20,000 were flown to the victims of Hurricane Camille. The local Council of Churches has called this "Give a Blanket Sunday" and asks that those who want to share warmth with the less fortunate — often helpless children, old people and invalids — bring a clean blanket to your church with you.

If you can't do that Sunday, it's possible to leave a blanket (or $3 for the purchase of one by WCS) at the two Long Beach pickup stations any time before next Friday — at First United Presbyterian, 600 E. Fifth St., or Church of the Brethren, 3332 Magnolia Ave.

PUNDITS WHO spoke of "the Jewish vote" in the New York mayoralty election were rapped by Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum of the American Jewish Committee, who said all such talk is "mere guesswork" and that "American Jews, like other groups, are influenced primarily by the positions that candidates and parties take that affect the welfare of ALL Americans."

Ethnic and religious identification "may be an element in the voter's choice," he said, "but it is always one of many elements and it is certainly rarely the controlling one. Jews — like Catholics and Protestants and others — vote as citizens, and we therefore deplore every political appeal to religious ethnic or racial bloc."

If anyone needs proof of this, the rabbi goes on,

People who worship do it by choice. They have found something. SOMEONE. Or they are seeking and know they are on the right path.

"Would be a very happy day for you, and your family, if you would decide, now, to become a worshipping family. Regularly. Find a happy, healthy Church. Get in it. Stay at it. Your life will begin to change. For good."

This Sunday, Forrest Stone will speak in both Morning Services, 9:45 and 11:00. Sunday Evening, at 7:00, Rod Toews will speak. (Dr. Gilliland will be out of the State.)

There are many good churches in Long Beach. Ours is just one. But, you might try ours. For a starter, at least.

there is New York City itself, with Jews as such a large part of the voting population, but there has never been a Jewish mayor, and "Jewish candidates for the mayoralty have often fared badly in districts heavily populated by Jews."

Back in 1927 noted Judge Louis Marshall, a Jew, addressed himself to the same topic, as follows: "There is no Jewish vote. We are American citizens and we adopt the principles of one or the other of the parties in accordance with our idea of what best contributes to the welfare of the country. If I have heard of any attempt by my own party to differentiate between its members on the basis of their religious faith, I would denounce it as being hostile to the spirit that should prevail in our country."

THAT EAGLE-EYED watchdogs of church-state separation, Americans United for same, best known for its positions against public funds for religious schools and against compulsory public prayer, has come down on the side of the angels in the mini-fuss over the astronauts praying in space. Its lawyers are preparing a "friend of the court" brief against the suit brought by atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair. She's suing NASA because Col. Frank Borman and Maj. William Anders read scriptures and prayers last July on the moon landing trip.

"If freedom of religion means anything," said Glenn L. Archer, director of Americans United, "it means freedom to recognize the Creator anywhere in His universe."

He added that his organization goes along with the Supreme Court prayer decision on both counts: religious exercises cannot be compelled, but neither can an individual be kept from expressing his religious beliefs voluntarily.

Most Americans would probably agree that the prayers by the intrepid travelers in space were a personal matter, and that man in space should have the right to express his feelings.

It seems like a silly waste of time and money to have such a personal matter as the feelings of pioneers in space brought to a court. . . RODNEY.

Clayton Moore, the famed Lone Ranger of 200 TV shows, will end the concert with gun twirling and a talk on the early West. He will give all children free autographed photographs.

The Marquis Chimps, who starred in the Disney film "Toby Tyler," have been on all the famous TV shows, at the London Palladium, and were the subject of an article in Life.

Wally Boag, star of Disneyland's Golden Horseshoe Revue, will emcee. Ariel Bybee, winner of San Francisco and Metropolitan opera auditions, will sing semi-classical numbers. Ragtime pianist Lee Fugal will perform.

The same show will be presented Thursday 8 p.m. in Anaheim Convention Center for the benefit of LDS Stakes in Orange County.

CONFIDENT LIVING

How Many Keys Do YOU Carry?

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

How often have you heard the expression, "What is the key to the problem?" It's an old familiar phrase. But have you ever thought that the problem may be the key itself?

A few weeks ago, I was visiting a young couple with two sons who live in an apartment building. The boys met me at the front door, and escorted me upstairs. On their floor a man was unlocking his front door and in his hand he held a gigantic key ring. There must have been 20 keys on it.

I thought to myself how I'd hate to be that man in a hurry, trying to find the right key among so many. One of my young friends had quite a different reaction. Using the insight that youth is blessed with, he said, "That man must have a lot of things that he looks up so no one else can use them."

HIS REMARK made me stop and think for a moment about that enormous key ring and what it really meant. If the man with the key ring felt compelled to keep his material possessions locked up tight, I wondered about the unseen key ring which held the keys to his thoughts, his feelings, perhaps even himself. Were all his human reactions as carefully locked away as his worldly goods?

Everybody has an invisible key ring which contains keys that can lock out relationships or open them up. Each of us has experienced the joy and warmth when a friend has "stuck his neck out" for us when we were in trouble. Unfortunately, each of us also can recall a person who is, what my young friend would call, up tight. All the wealth of feeling that should be flowing out to others is carefully locked away behind a blank expression, a controlled voice.

How about your own invisible key ring? Is it overloaded with useless keys? You can get rid of them by doing your best to get over the idea of locking away feelings and thoughts and by opening things up with some positive action. Unlock your spontaneous feelings of love and affection for others and throw that key away. Unlock the feelings of concern and consideration for those around you and throw that key away.

How many bad habits, habits you may not even be aware of, are hanging on that invisible key ring? (A certain impatience with your family. Resentments you may have toward your fellow workers.) Why not throw away those keys and see if you can get along without them.

No one expects you to give away all the keys. I would certainly suggest hanging on to the front door key and the ignition key! Hang on, too, to the one that controls your temper and your intolerance with the actions of others.

HOW MANY of us hang on to old keys long after we've forgotten what it is they lock and unlock. We do the same thing with our personal habits and our attitudes towards other people. Stop and think about why you behave the way you do in a certain situation. If there's no longer a reason to lock up a feeling, a thought, then throw the key away!

Within each of us there are untapped resources; talent, thoughts, ideas we have never unlocked, never set free. We carry around that same old key chain without really understanding what it contains, and without realizing what could happen to our lives if we opened up some old locks and threw some old keys away. Maybe it's high time all of us did some house cleaning.

Old Water Well

Found Under Walk

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A 250-year-old water well has been uncovered beneath a sidewalk at the rear of the Mobile County Courthouse.

A University of Alabama archeologist, Don Harris, said that the well was one of three dug in 1710 under supervision of French explorer Bienville in old Fort Comde.

Workmen exposed the red brick siding of the well, which has an inside diameter of about eight feet.

Baptist Mission Women Invite Men to Dinner

It will be "Men's Night" at First Baptist Women Mission Society's dinner meeting Friday, 6:30 p.m. in the church dining room, 10th Street and Pine Avenue.

Feature will be a sacred concert by Arthur and Genevieve Jaisles. He sang bass for 25 years with the Old Fashioned Revival Hour Quartet, is presently soloist in Arcadia Presbyterian church and pianist and terian Church.

JOHN CALVIN LIKE HIPPIES?

John Calvin, founder of the Calvinist movement which brought reforms, civil conflict, and only uncertain peace to many parts of Europe, was driven out of Geneva in 1538.

He returned in 1541 to institute governmental changes which have had wide influence on the modern social order everywhere.

Although he was a strict moralist, historians have claimed he was responsible for the death of one of his associates.

Moderns have found points in his movement comparable to the hippie movements of today.

The Calvinist Methodist Church derives from him. He died in 1564.

Mrs. Jaisles, an accompanist, is a leader of the Music Teachers Assn. of Glendale. Though now living in Glendale, the Jaisles are Long Beach natives and Poly High graduates.

Meditation will be by Attorney James Edson, a leading Southland layman. Hostessing is by the Business and Professional Women's Group. Tickets and information may be obtained through the church office.

GOINGS ON

A big youth rally at 1 p.m. today in First Brethren, 36th and Linden, will wind up the Southland convention of GLASS, the nation's leading area Sunday School association. Music will be by the noted senior high school choir of the giant First Baptist Church of Van Nuys. Mrs. Joyce Jacobowsky, leading Presbyterian who was on a selected church seminar trip to Iron Curtain countries, will conclude her series of lectures Wednesday, 7 p.m. in Covenant Presbyterian, Third and Atlantic, speaking on "Russia — A Light in Moscow." Dr. James Kallas Jr., professor of religion at California Lutheran College, will begin his five Sunday lectures on "The Literature of John, especially the Book of Revelation, 7:30 p.m. in Christ Lutheran, 6500 Stearns St., with a cost of $2 for the entire series. Dr. William Orr, well known Bible teacher, will speak at the annual Child Evangelism Fellowship Banquet, West Orange Orange County chapter, Thursday, 6:45 p.m. in Magnolia Baptist, 720 S. Magnolia Ave./ Anaheim. Reservations needed.

Bixby Knolls Church of the Nazarene, 4911 Orange Ave., will celebrate its 25th anniversary Sunday, having been located on Lew Davis Avenue till last year. Sermon at 10:30 a.m. will be preached by Rev. Reuben Welch, former pastor, now chaplain at Pasadena College, and there will be a dinner at Mayfair Park and evening service.

Guiding Light in Merger

Guiding Light Tabernacle of Signal Hill and Calvary Temple Assembly of God of Long Beach have merged into one congregation, and will worship together Sunday at the former's sanctuary at 21st Street and Cherry Avenue.

Pastor of the yet unnamed new combined church is Rev. L. L. Shipley, founder of Calvary Temple in 1957. His steadily growing congregation moved in 1963 from 3212 E. Eighth St. to 3749 E. Wilton St., former facilities of Forest Lawn Mortuary. Plans for a pre-school are in the making at the Wilton Street property, valued at $250,000.

Guiding Light was founded in 1947 by the late Rev. Herschel S. Phillips in a tent in Bellflower. They moved in two years

Cherry Ave. Fetes Merger

The Cherry Avenue Church of God will formally celebrate its merger with the Community Church of God of Los Angeles Sunday, An 11 a.m. service will honor the founding ministers, Hazel Neal and Clement Bogle. At 3 p.m. Rev. Bogle, the pastor of the combined church at 1525 Cherry Ave. will be installed by the combined fellowship.

Participating will be leaders of the denomination, the Long Beach Area Council of Churches, and Azusa Pacific College.

The cosmopolitan congregation includes Jamaicans, British West Indians, British Hondurians, Spanish, Negroes, Caucasians, American Indians, Dutch and Indonesians. Rev. Bogle is a Jamaican.

FROM THE PULPIT

The Bible tells us when the champion of the Philistines was dead, the people fled. The tendency of human nature is to follow some person or ideal. This in itself is not wrong. But it is wholly important who and what you follow. The question is, what will happen when your "champion" is dead?

As Christ performed his public ministry, he drew around himself many disciples. Some, found themselves misplaced at his crucifixion. Had they lost their "champion?" Not the crowd could hold him captive. He lives as one whom we can follow without reservation. His invitation is "Follow me."

Come to Calvary Calvary is for you!

Black Churchmen in Berkeley Meet

The National Committee of Black Churchmen, Inc. will hold its third annual convocation at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley, Tuesday through Friday.

More than 500 black churchmen are expected. According to the NCBC Newsletter, the black church "is going to meet its Lord in urban ghettos and rural slums of America, on the college campus, in jails and narcotic clinics, among the developing nations of Africa — wherever people of color struggle for identity, pride, and power."

High on the agenda will be a discussion of the theological implications of the black experience.

Methodist

sourcebook published by Harper & Row.

AS FOR THE extent of prior Methodist tradition among the members, Corson thinks that in any local church situation a good 50 per cent are originally from other than the church's denominational background.

"There's definitely been a lessening of the importance of denominational ties. People tend to go where they feel at home."

Methodism, in any case, has never been heavy on the theological and doctrinal side.

"We couldn't have a big inner fight over creed as the Presbyterians did recently," he chuckled. "We fight over things!"

"This is a live-and-let-live denomination, it's our style. It stems back to John Wesley, who said to other Christians in debate, 'If your heart is as my heart, give me your hand.' We have three ways to baptize, people have their choice, we don't make a big fuss over form."

This swinging Methodist style, he went on, is why "we have always been a national, not a regional church. The story of our growth is the story of the American frontier. Where there was a new settlement, there was a new Methodist church."

Deep in those frontier, circuit-riding roots is a strong outlook against the evils of drink. It is deep in Corson's own background.

"When I was a kid in Camden, where my father was a minister, I'd earn money for the campaign to make New Jersey a dry state. That's my heritage." He sighed ruefully. "I'm afraid New Jersey isn't a very dry state today."

ALONG WITH the Methodist Church itself, Dr. Corson has somewhat modified his fundamental stand on drinking, though he, like the church, continues to attack the evil, and to urge temperance and abstinence. One is not apt to hear one of the old hell-fire sermons on drink in a Methodist church today, predicting eternal damnation for a social habit. Especially when its no state secret that maybe half of any given Methodist congregation imbibes now and then.

"The church is a victim of acculturation," he says realistically. "There is less and less stigma attached to alcohol."

He brushes aside the argument by some (including some Methodists) that a church position in favor of abstinence cuts the church off from empathizing with, reaching and ministering to those in need of help.

Abstinence is a personal commitment. It doesn't qualify anyone to be self-righteous. That's hardly a Christian attitude."

Aside from all other questions, he holds, "the social benefits of abstinence are obvious. Just take the one point of traffic accidents."

METHODISM'S distinctive contribution in this massive problem, he says, has been "to lift up the problem, to make it a matter of personal commitment."

The veteran minister sees no national support for a return to Prohibition — that ill-fated attempt to get at the problem — and he doubts it will ever come back.

"However," he insists, "There were some benefits from Prohibition that have been obscured in all the attention to the gangsters and the negative things." He also feels the good motivations of battlers for Prohibition have taken something of a beating from history.

The old liquor question leads all too logically to the new drug situation.

"Young people today are taking to drugs as my generation took to liquor," Dr. Corson says. He emphasizes that it is a real and present menace, not something being exaggerated. "Kids who are growing up in a drug-oriented subculture are in serious personal danger. Out of my own pastoral experience, I am certain of this fact."

"Again, the question arises — how best to handle it. We cannot ignore it."

California Heights Methodist Church has a modestly promising youth program, he notes.

"But it's hard for all churches today, to make real contact with youth. It's a different world, and different programs are required, even if everyone in the congregations are not ready to put up with some of the necessities that involves."

In these changing times, which often find religion on the defensive, Dr. Corson sees a hopeful sign in "a diminishing of dogmatism," by which he means the dogmatism of absolute, rigid postures not open to modification and improved effectiveness.

"Old line liberal churches are starting to see that something is missing if they leave out the evangelical heart," he suggests, "While conservative evangelicals are beginning to realize that they must be concerned with everything to do with life."

VANISHING CAR COMES BACK CLEAN

LOVELAND, Colo. — When Mrs. C.E. Wall walked out of the post office, her car, which she had parked in front, was gone.

Mrs. Wall went back inside to telephone police. But when officers arrived, the car was back in the parking lot.

Then came Daniel E. Cornforth, to explain that he took the car—which is identical to his—and drove away before he discovered his error. Also before he discovered his error, he took the car through an automatic car wash.

ABC Plans First Prime-Time Shift

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Cancellation of five prime-time shows was announced Friday by the American Broadcasting Co.

The shows to be dropped, and the final dates on which they will be seen, are: "Music Scene" and "The New People," Jan. 12; "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," Jan. 16; "The Dating Game," Jan. 17 (although the daytime version will continue); "The Hollywood Palace," Feb. 7.

The shows were dropped to make way for the return of Johnny Cash whose summer series went over on the network and three new shows: Juliet Mills as an English nanny and Richard Long as a widowed professor with three children in "The Nanny and the Professor;" "The Engelbert Humperdinck Show," "The Pat Paulsen Show," half hour comedy-variety series.

IN ADDITION to dropping the four shows, Eitan Rule, ABC president, announced shifts in programming for all nights except Sunday and Tuesday.

The new ABC schedule:

Monday — "It Takes a Thief," 7:30 p.m., to be followed by the ABC Wednesday Night Movie

Wednesday — "The Nanny and the Professor," 7:30 p.m.; "Eddie's Father" and "Room 222" remain; "Johnny Cash Show," 9 p.m.; "Engelbert Humperdinck Show," 10 p.m.

Thursday — Pat Paulsen

Show, 7:30 p.m.; "That Girl," "Bowtied" and "Tom Jones Show" remain; "The Survivors," 10 p.m.

Friday — "The Flying Nun," 7:30 p.m. moves into the "Let's Make a Deal" spot; "The Brady Bunch" stays; "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," 8:30 p.m., replaces "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town;" "Here Come the Brides" stays and "Love, American Style" moves into the "Duranto-Lennon Sisters" spot.

Saturday — "Let's Make a Deal" takes over the axed "Dating Game" at 7:30 p.m.; "The Newlywed Game" and "Lawrence Welk Show" remain and "The Duranto-Lennon Show" replaces "Hollywood Palace" effective Feb. 14.

RADIO NOTE: Three Long Beach police officers, specialist in juvenile delinquency, narcotics, traffic and general crime prevention, will be guests on KFOX-AM (1280) at 7 p.m. Sunday. They are Sgt. B. J. Irwin, and Officers William J. Meyer and W. L. Rhodes. Daren Lane hosts the program, "Personal Opinion," which will be rebroadcast at 7 p.m. Monday, on KFOX, FM (100.3).

Westside Council Sets Rummage Sale

The Westside Neighborhood Council will sponsor a rummage sale Saturday in the Neighborhood Center at 2006 Santa Fe Ave. The sale will last from 9:30 a.m. until about 2:30 p.m., a council announcement said.

It was, in spite of its shortcomings, interesting to watch.

"DEBBIE REYNOLDS and the Sound of Children," the preceding NBC special, was a light musical romp and a pleasant if hardly memorable hour.

It teamed with cute children acting out a series of original songs based on the old rhyme starting "Monday's child is fair of face."

The kids swarmed over playgrounds, sang songs, fed pets. Debbie was a combination Pied Piper, field marshal and star-singing, dancing troop leader.

Leave It To Larry

By LARRY MEDER
HARBOR CHEVROLET

Witnessing an elderly lady's tears is always a heart-rending sight and when a customer came in with tears streaming down her face, it proved to be NO EXCEPTION. This nice little elderly lady complained bitterly that both the clock and the speedometer in her Nomad station wagon did not work.

Gently, I explained to her, "A Nomad becomes just that — a Nomad — it cares not for time nor distance... but simply answers the call of the open road!"

Brightening at hearing this, she dried her eyes; and refusing the corrections I offered, drove off with a wave of the hand.

While I've never seen her again, the post cards she keeps sending me are from farther and farther away places.

Folks, if you keep getting "farther and farther" away from the deal you want, you haven't dialed "M" for Meder at Harbor Chevrolet, GA 6-3341, 3770 Cherry.

Wilt's Knee, Lakers' Title Hopes Ruptured

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

Wilt Chamberlain, the strongest and most durable man in pro basketball for a decade, suffered a severe knee injury Friday night that could signal the end of his illustrious career. The giant Laker center went down without being touched with 4:45 remaining in the third period, and every one of the 10,557

Forum fans knew that the big man wouldn't be able to get up. It was only a matter of minutes before Dr. Robert Kerlan returned the verdict: ruptured tendon below the right knee which will require surgery today at Centinella Valley Hospital in Inglewood.

There was no speculation how long Wilt would be sidelined, or whether he could ever play again. It is a certainty, however, that he will be sidelined for the next three months even if the surgery is successful.

Not only did the Lakers lose the man they hoped would lead them to a world championship, they also lost the game to the Phoenix Suns, 122-120, on a shot at the buzzer by Stan McKenzie, who had rebounded Gail Goodrich's missed shot.

It was the first victory for the Suns over the Lakers, who have lost two in a row at the Forum and must face the red-hot New York Knicks at home on Sunday.

Chamberlain was struck down in the midst of one of his finest games. He put in his first 11 field goal attempts and had 13 out of 14 when he took a pass from Jerry West and appeared headed for his 14th basket with 4:45 left.

Wilt took one step, then toppled to the court without taking a shot. He rolled over once and then signaled for the trainer's assistance. The veteran superstar said he realized the seriousness of the injury the moment he fell.

For the 33-year-old all-time NBA scoring leader, it was the first serious injury of his career. He has only missed 12 games in 10½ seasons. He has played 796 games, playoffs excluded.

Laker trainer Frank O'Neil compared Wilt's injury to the one Elgin Baylor suffered in April of 1965. The only difference is the location of the ruptured tendon. Baylor was out six months and not fully recovered for eight.

It is common knowledge to veteran Laker fans that Baylor's courage helped him return. It could be that Wilt's rehabilitation might also depend on his will to battle back.

Chamberlain's loss will force the Lakers to change their style of play, but to what extent is hard to say. West says the change will be 100 per cent, coach Joe Mullaney thinks "something less than that."

Whatever the case, Rick Roberson and Mel Counts will alternate at the pivot and the Lakers will run more, as they did before Chamberlain came to town. Roberson, a 6-9, 240-pound rookie from Cincinnati, was impressive as Wilt's stand-in Friday.

"I have great confidence in both Rick and Mel," said Mullaney who feels his athletes will "regroup and fight back. West said, "Don't worry about us, we won't be embarrassed."

Lakewood Stifles Millikan Assault at Two, Wins 14-8

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

Lakewood's stingy Lancers stopped a Millikan High touchdown bid on the two with 1:53 left to play Friday night and went on to beat the Rams, 14-8 in their annual struggle at Veterans Stadium.

Some 12,000 fans watched the teams trade goal line stands and long scoring plays on the damp field before the Lancers managed a seven play, 32-yard march 3:43 into the final period that accounted for the deciding score.

The win kept Lake-

wood's playoff hopes alive.

The unbeaten Lancers meet Wilson Thursday night in the regular season finale.

It was another tough loss for Millikan, which has played well in league competition but has only a 1-3 record.

As it has for the last three weeks, Lakewood's defense turned in a noteworthy performance.

Except on two occasions, the Lancers held Millikan's ground game in check. The Rams managed 44 yards rushing, and their longest run from scrimmage was nine yards.

Millikan stopped the Lancers on the Ram two after Lakewood had driven 76 yards the first time it handled the ball in the third quarter.

Despite a first down on the five, four cracks into the line produced only three yards as Pat Duty hauled down Frank Morales on the fourth down TD bid.

The Rams, managed to nudge the ball only out to the seven, and a poor 27-yard punt put Lakewood in good field position on the 32.

This time the Lancers weren't denied. On third and eight at the 30, Kim Hammarford threw 11 yards to Morales. Dana Hogan boomed 14 yards to the 5, and three plays later Morales scored from the one.

Morales played his best ball of the year on the two drives. He repeatedly was called upon to deliver key yardage.

Millikan almost came all the way back, taking the ensuing kickoff and going 53 yards to the Lancer two. Kim Eilers, throwing to Bob Buckley four times, accounted for 48 of the yards.

The Rams had a first down on the six, but three cracks into the line produced only four yards and Eilers overhauled Buckley on the fourth down play.

Lakewood elected to give Millikan a safety on fourth down from the eight in an effort to use up the clock. It received a free kick with 17 seconds to play.

The teams produced long scoring plays in the first half.

Eilers combined with Buckley for a pass-run play that covered 74 yards early in the second quarter. Lancer Rick Gillies eluded six tacklers in running back a punt 60 yards to tie the score 6-6 at halftime.

SLEEPY RANGERS TAKE ICE

The New York Rangers can't be blamed if they appear more than a little "stoned" for their 2 p.m. matinee National Hockey League match with the Kings today.

Following Friday night's game in Oakland, New York grabbed a Jack Kent Cooke charter south and was lucky to get five hours sleep for this afternoon's joust in the Forum.

The Rangers were forced to choose between accepting a two-point forfeiture or playing at an hour that puts them at a definite disadvantage — two games within 18 hours.

The Forum has been turned over to the Rolling Stones for two rock concert performances tonight. The British singing group is expected to attract 38,000 — a $275,000 payoff — as compared with 7,000 fans for the Kings-Rangers.

Bruins Roll, 38-19, Clinch Title Tie

By NELSON CRANDALL

Wilson's revenge - bent Bruins, thirsting for another shot at Lakewood which would give them an unchallenged Moore League championship, devastated Jordan with 38 first half points Friday night and coasted to a 38-19 victory.

In parading to their fourth successive Moore triumph, coach Owen Dixon's charges clinched a tie for the title, with only the Lancers standing in the way of an outright championship.

But a tie is the furthest thing from Dixon's mind. He remembers last season and the staggering 30-0 loss to Lakewood.

"We want to beat them pretty bad," Dixon said moments after the Bruins blew Jordan apart in the first 24 minutes. "We don't want to share anything. We have a real good football team and we've got a few more games to play . . . I hope."

The benevolent Dixon rested his first stringers throughout the entire second half Friday after full-back Brian Doheny and quarterback Lamont Larkin bedeviled the Panthers in the initial two periods.

All 40 Bruins who suited up saw action, and some third and fourth stringers went all the way in the anticlimactic second half.

"We just didn't want to get anybody hurt," Dixon explained.

The potent Bruins, averaging more than 300 yards per game in Moore League play, tacked on 359 more Friday with Doheny racing 108 yards in 10 carries and Larkin, alternating with Cass Ditzler, ambling another 96 in six thrusts.

Although restricted to 25 yards in 10 first half carries, Jordan's tireless tailback, Gary Rawson, wound up the evening with 117 yards in 28 cracks and scored the three Panther touchdowns. Rawson has scored all of Jordan's eight TDs in Moore competition.

Wilson settled the issue early. It took the opening kickoff and scored three plays later as Doheny sped 78 yards on an end sweep. Moments later Bruin safety Mark Rasmussen intercepted sophomore quarterback Jess Kellogg's first pass of the game at the Jordan 30. Again it took the Bruins only three plays to score with Ditzler barging over from the three after Larkin set it up with a 31-yard burst. It was all downhill from there.

"I have great confidence in both Rick and Mel," said Mullaney who feels his athletes will "regroup and fight back. West said, "Don't worry about us, we won't be embarrassed."

Fresno State, on the other hand, was expected to be a running team, exploiting the talents of a bevy of fine running backs. But injuries have so depleted the Bulldogs that they have gone to a passing attack.

The passing game came to life in a 48-28 loss to San Diego State last week. Quarterback Ron Hudson completed 27 of 51 passes against the Aztecs for 283 yards.

The loss of running backs Gary Caropreso, Atomic Torosian, Wall Jensen and Fred Parker has forced Fresno to shift Lloyd Madden from defense to offense, a move that concerns the Cal State coaching staff.

As a sophomore, Madden set a school record while catching 53 passes as a halfback, as well as rushing for nearly 400 yards.

It is his versatility which could make this a long night for the 49ers.

49ERS FIGHT THE LAW OF DIMINISHING RETURNS

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

While watching the Cal State Long Beach defense protect a four-game winning streak, it is easy to get the feeling the 49er coaching staff depends a great deal on magic.

In win No. 1, DeMille Ball, playing in his first football game, was the catalyst in a 28-14 triumph over the University of Hawaii.

In win No. 4, a 22-20 decision over Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, 185-pound defensive tackle Joe DeLaVera and 170-pound defensive end John Courdy were sparklers.

The margin of victory in each game of the streak dwindled, from 14 to 8 to 6 to 2 points, indicating that each encore has been increasingly difficult.

Will the 49ers resort to magic tonight when they bid to extend the streak against Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. rival Fresno State at Veterans Stadium (8 o'clock)?

"Have you looked in our hat lately?" Cal State coach Jim Stangeland asks. "There aren't many tricks left in it."

Stangeland feels that the dwindling margin of victory is simply that "the caliber of opponent has improved each week."

The trend continues tonight.

New Construction Contracts' Index Continues to Dip

The Dodge Index of contracts for new construction resumed its downward course in September, it was announced by the F. W. Dodge Division of McGraw-Hill Information Systems Company.

September construction contracts, valued at $5,139,627,000, brought the seasonally adjusted index to its low for the year, 173, in a sharp reaction to August's record 216 (1957-59 — 100).

Compared with the same month last year, total contract value was down one per cent.

"THE month-to-month pattern of contracting so far this year has been highly erratic," noted

George A. Christie, chief economist for F. W. Dodge. "Nevertheless, the trend has been unmistakably downward since the beginning of the year."

On the basis of quarterly averages, the index settled back from a first quarter rate of 197 to 193 in the second quarter, and 190 by the third.

"For the first nine months, though, contract values have risen 12 per cent over the same period a year ago. An anticipated drop in the final quarter, as economic restraints take a greater toll on construction, is expected to reduce the gain for the entire year to 7 per cent," Christie said.

CONTINUED good growth in office construction helped push non-residential contract value to $2,012,679,000 in September, an 11 per cent increase from the year earlier.

Hospital and recreational construction also recorded solid gains, following the pattern of previous months.

Contracting for manufacturing plants, which has turned sluggish in recent months, showed a September decline.

On a seasonally-adjusted basis, total nonresidential contract value dropped 17 per cent from its rate in August, when progress on several units of the World Trade Center helped boost the month's index to an all-time high.

CONTRACTS for new residential structures in September fell 8 per cent below the year ago total to $1,952,369,000.

The seasonally adjusted residential index dropped to 140, the lowest point since June, 1960, as tight credit continued to inhibit homebuilding.

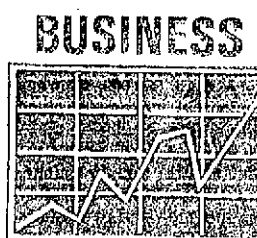

In a reversal of the pattern set earlier in 1969, contracting for apartments declined more in September than did the value of one- and two-family housing.

Until recently most of the year's decline had been concentrated in one-family homes.

SEPTEMBER contracts for nonbuilding construction totalled $1,174,579,000, a 5 per cent decline from a year ago.

Continued increases in roadbuilding and construction of sewer and water facilities were more than offset by sharp declines in utilities and miscellaneous nonbuilding construction.

The seasonally-adjusted index dropped almost a third from the August level, which was affected by the inclusion of major electrical generating projects.

HUNTINGTON VILLA COMPLEXES ... Give Impression Of Single Residences

DEVELOPER GEORGE ZAHLER SAYS:

'Homes With an Income' Concept Is Attractive at Huntington Villas

Completion of 89 new residential units at Huntington Villas in Huntington Beach demonstrates the public's growing interest in the "homes with an income" concept, says developer George Zahler.

Main feature of the plan is the ownership which accrues to buyers a luxury-type family villa and four or five adjoining apartment units from which he derives income.

Owners' residences at Huntington Villas feature up to 2,000 square feet of actual living area and as many as four bedrooms and three baths.

Fireplaces and paneled den are among interior appointments cited by Zahler. The single-home effect is heightened by architectural motifs, garden space and park-like setting.

THE RENTAL unit included in the owner's property display one and two-bedroom floor plans.

The properties range in price from $101,500 to $113,500. The builder reports 7 1/2 per cent loans available.

The new Huntington Villas group triples the number of home-and-apartment complexes in the community's first group.

Huntington Villas are just east of Beach Boulevard on Stahr Street, two blocks south of Edinger Avenue.

D-Bar Horse Show Slated

The fast-growing popularity of saddle horses and show riding in Southern California is reflected elegantly in a new and architecturally unique $750,000 Equestrian Center being opened formally this weekend at The Country in Diamond Bar — private community in the San Gabriel Valley — with an international horse show.

The public is invited free. Miss Anneli Drummond-Hay of Great Britain, one of the world's leading horsewomen who won the All-European Show Jumping Championship in 1963, heads a list of equestrian stars from Britain, Mexico and Canada competing for the "Nation's Cup" during three days competition.

COMPETING WITH Miss Drummond-Hay will be Alan Oliver of Great Britain; Mexican Olympic team member Joaquin de las Heras; and Ellisia Fernandez of Mexico; and Barbara Simpson and Cathy Myers, top-ranked members of Canada's national equestrian team, according to show director Bill King.

The Equestrian Center building with more than an acre under roof, including a 24,000-square-foot indoor arena and 71 horse stalls and tack rooms on a 10-acre site, is the centerpiece of a $1,500,000 recreational park created on a meadowland by Transamerica Development Company.

LARGEST RETAIL FURNITURE CENTER IN WORLD

Levitz Furniture Opens Today in Huntington Beach

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

As of today, Orange County can boast it has the largest retail furniture center in the world.

Ready for the public at 7441 Edinger Ave., Huntington Beach, is Levitz Furniture Corporation's largest warehouse-showroom.

The 250,000-square-foot building, near the San Diego Freeway and Beach Boulevard, is set on a 13-acre tract and houses nearly 400 room vignettes displaying $5 million worth of furniture and accessories.

LIKE ALL OF THE NEWER Levitz warehouse-showrooms (the Huntington Beach one is the 12th in the national Levitz chain), this center will have railroad sidings. This allows carloads of home furnishings to be received right at the Levitz shipping docks, making for faster delivery of goods and economies in buying because of lower freight rates.

The opening of the warehouse-showroom today could mark an important new era in home furnishings retailing in this area.

Both Leon J. Levitz, president of the company, and Sidney A. Levitz of Corona del Mar, California manager, said the population growth and business progress of a community are carefully studied and researched prior to the selection for a Levitz operation.

The Levitz concept of merchandising has proved successful in 11 other areas across the nation.

The Huntington Beach center is the 12th Levitz warehouse-showroom in the fast-growing chain.

IN AUGUST, THE SECOND largest of the chain's warehouse-showrooms was opened in San Bernardino. Others are located in Pottstown and Allentown, Penn.; Phoenix and Tempe, Ariz.; Miami and Tampa, Fla.; Dallas, Atlanta, Ga.; Wilmington, Del., and Santa Clara.

The Levitz concept of mass merchandising top-name brands of home furnishings through warehouse-showrooms is revolutionizing, its officers claim, the retailing of furniture in this country.

In some markets, Levitz claims to have achieved a penetration in excess of 20 per cent of total furniture sales in its area.

GOODBODY & COMPANY said in a recent report that Levitz' sales and earnings have grown at an annual rate of 40 per cent during the past four years and that "management's goals are set for a 50 per cent growth in the immediate future."

Goodbody also reported "earnings in 1968 were 81 cents a share and predicts profits can reach $1.20 a share in the current fiscal year and $2 in fiscal 1971."

Levitz has applied new retailing methods to the distribution of furniture in much the same manner that earlier enabled large supermarkets to revolutionize the merchandising of food.

Large warehouse-showrooms are located strategically at the major freeway exits near fast-growing metropolitan areas.

Customers will enter the Levitz center at Edinger avenue through a huge warehouse where they will be able to see — stored neatly and covered with see-through plastic covers — $5 million dollars of top brand merchandise.

THE LEVITZ FURNITURE Corporation had its beginnings in 1910 when a teen-ager named R. B. Levitz opened a general store in Lebanon, Pa.

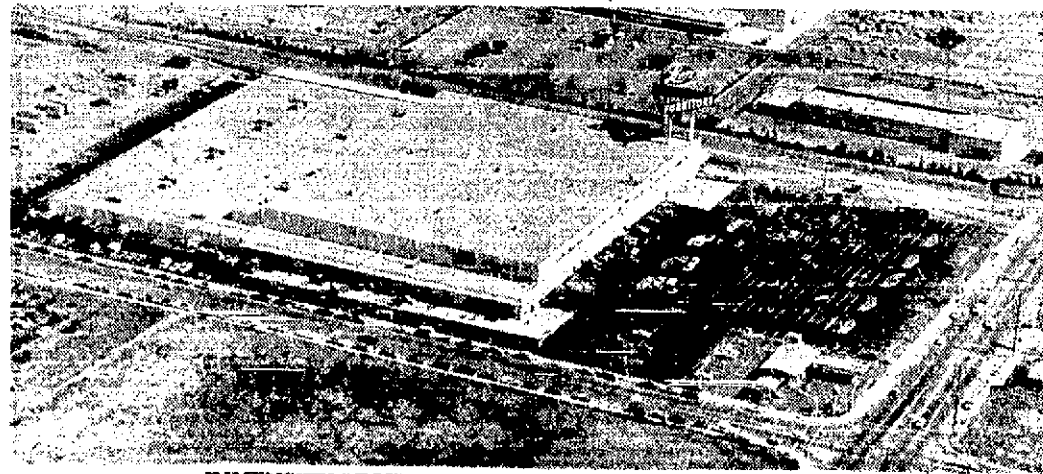

By 1922 the little store had grown into a full-fledged furniture and appliance store.

In 1936, two of the founder's four sons, Ralph and Leon Levitz, opened a store in Pottstown, Pa., and this was the entity which ultimately became the Levitz Furniture Corporation.

While helping another brother open a furniture store in Tucson, Ralph and Leon had their first experience in selling direct from the warehouse and thus the idea of the warehouse-showroom operation was born.

Attending the Huntington Beach opening along with Sidney A. Levitz, California manager, will be the founder, R. B. Levitz; Leon J. Levitz, president of the corporation; Ralph Levitz, chairman of the board; two grandsons of the founder Gary Levitz, vice president and secretary of the firm; Phillip A. Levitz, vice president and treasurer; Mrs. Razelle Levitz Selznick, Western division manager of lamps and accessories; Harold Frank, western division operations manager; Justin Richmond, merchandise manager.

About 200 employees, most of them residents of Orange County, will assist the Levitz family run the Huntington Beach warehouse-showroom.

'Country-Diamond Bar' Opens New Equestrian Center

 developer of The Country in Diamond Bar.
 It is the first and only completely covered horse arena of its kind ever built for a private community in the Western United States.

LOCATED ON SCENIC, gently rolling land that has been a horse-and-cattle ranch since the Spanish occupation of California, The Country in Diamond Bar is a guard-gated new recreational-residential community 30 miles east of downtown Los Angeles at Diamond Bar Boulevard and Shadow Canyon Road.

The community has a total of 2,400 acres which are being sold as homesites in sizes from one-half to five acres.

Prices start at $9,990.
 President Ralph D. Wenger of Transamerica Development Company said the decision to make The Country in Diamond Bar an equestrian-oriented community was made after the company's surveys confirmed the rapid growth of horse ownership here simultaneous with the shrinkage of supplies of developable land available for horsekeeping near Los Angles.

"THE PROPERTY HAS a variety of assets that appeal to horse owners and riders — good riding terrain, 35 miles of bridle trails, availability of large homesites permitting stable and paddock construction, close-in location, year-round mild weather, and quick access to freeways," Wenger said.

Wenger also said the demand for the services of riding horses here is unprecedented since pre-model T days.

Among the states, California now ranks second only to Texas in horse population with more than 380,000, whereas in 1959, California did not even place among the top ten states.

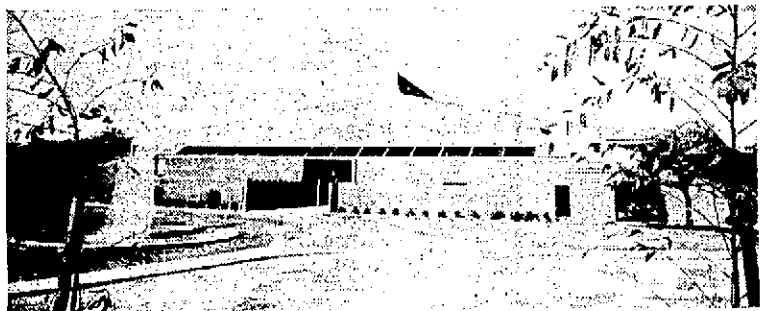

IN LOS ANGELES County alone, there are more than 90,000 privately owned horses. In the greater Los Angeles area, more than $60,000,000 are invested annually in horse upkeep, services and supplies.

Transamerica Development Company will dedicate the Equestrian Center with an international horse show commensurate in importance to the scope of the new facilities.

In addition to the international jumping competition, scheduled both today and Sunday at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., the show will attract approximately 1,000 entries and 600 horses from California, Arizona and Nevada competing for $10,000 in cash prizes in 72 classes.

THE EQUESTRIAN Center's indoor arena is championship size of 120x200 feet, or 24,000 square feet, and is 38 feet high at the apex. Rectangular in shape, the enclosed arena has bleacher capacity for 650 spectators and additional room for 100 standing spectators in a viewing area. Outdoor rings include a warm-up ring, 125x300 feet; diagonal horse walking ring with automatic walker, 45 feet; English jumping ring, 50 feet; and a training ring, 30 feet.

The arena building, designed by Lee Wilcox, A.I.A., is constructed of heavy timbers with steel girders supporting the major roof over the arena. Exterior walls are composed of textured concrete blocks in warm earth colors mingled with pastel blues and greens.

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM? Wheel Chair Necessitates Completely Different Home

By D. G. CAMPBELL
 Nobody ever really misses a thumb until it gets put out of action by a misdirected ball-peen hammer. From that moment on, the point is forcefully brought home just how essential the thumb is in the matter of zippers, buttons, forks and typewriter keys.
 Now take that kind of loss and multiply it 10,000 times over and you'll begin to approximate what it means to live without the use of your legs — where a short flight of steps becomes as impassable as the Mississippi at flood time.

MR. CAMPBELL:
 Help, please! Within the last year my husband has become confined to a wheel chair, and we now need a home that is on one floor and, I would like, out of town a way.
 Our home is lovely inside as we have remodeled to suit our taste. It is, and has been, all paid for and now our problem is getting a home on one floor where he can get to his bedroom, etc.
 Is it possible to get a builder to build a home for our home in exchange? If so, how do I go about this? Whom do I contact, and how? I certainly would appreciate your advice as, believe me, it is pretty hard for a woman to make all the decisions.
 — MRS. R.S.W.
 ANSWER: Since World War II, the Korean War and Vietnam, the market — unhappily — has sharply increased for homes especially designed for persons afflicted with spinal injuries and it has become quite a specialty within a specialty.
 The homes involve a host of features that differ markedly from the conventional house — from outside ramps, instead of steps, to out-sized door frames that will accommodate wheel chairs, to wheel-chair-high light switches and so on down the line.

 The largest single expense, logically, is the bathroom which must not only be extra large, but equipped with many support bars and other safety features foreign to the usual bathroom.
 Since all of these things are, indeed, "extras" the cost of a home built for the safety and convenience of an individual confined to a wheel chair tends to be higher than for a comparable home.
 The Veteran's Administration, in fact, will advance up to $12,500 toward the additional cost of such a home for a paraplegic veteran.
 In actuality, however, one home builder with considerable experience in this specialized field estimated that most of the really essential features could be built into a home for about 10 per cent more than a comparable home without them.
 The trick, of course, is to either find such a home already on the market, or to have one built, in a price range that one can afford. In the case here, Mrs. R.S.W.'s best bet is probably to contact the local chapter of her home-builders' association to see if any of its membership is interested in building a wheel chair-oriented house, in exchange for her existing home.
 She would also be wise to contact her local multiple listing organization for the purpose of determining if there happens to be, already on the market, a home specifically built for a paraplegic.

 I don't think that she should be discouraged because her housing needs are so specialized — the very fact that they are frequently works to the would-be-home-buyer's advantage.
 (Campbell welcomes letters. He is unable to enter into correspondence, but will answer as many letters as possible through his column.)

FIREPLACE CONVERSATION PIT... Popular At Maybrook

WESTMINSTER SITE Maybrook Homes' 3rd Unit Open Today

Grand opening today of the third unit of Maybrook Homes in Westminster is also the beginning of the final opportunity to make a selection from models in this phase of the development, according to Jerry Degen, marketing and sales director.

"Changes will be made

Appraisers Workshop Scheduled

Office buildings and computers will be the subject of a two-hour workshop to be held by the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers on Thursday, Nov. 20.

The workshop commences at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of the Southern California Gas Company, Fifth Street and Grand Avenue, Los Angeles.

Kurt Shelger, M.A.I., will present a demonstration appraisal of an office building. Shelger is associated with the Shattuck Company, is a past president of the local M.A.I. chapter and, currently, is a member of the Governing Board of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

SPEAKING on computers will be George Coffin III and J. Levine, both noted Los Angeles area realtors. They will demonstrate computer applications offered through Realtors Computer Service.

The workshop will be followed at 6 p.m. by the November dinner meeting in the Galleria Room of the Biltmore Hotel. For reservations, write to the AIREA, 3111 Los Feliz Blvd., Room 103, Los Angeles, Calif. 90039.

in the next phase, to reflect the higher costs of materials and labor," the executive said.

"Buyers who act now can still take advantage of the best dollar-for-dollar and item-for-item value in Orange County."

THE NEW community is a development of S&S Construction Co., a division of Shapell Industries, Inc., one of the nation's leading contractors.

The homes in the third unit of Maybrook are set in quiet cul-de-sac streets, designed specifically to enhance the safety of children at play.

All of the homes will be built according to strict quality standards, for which S & S has received awards from homeowner associations and for which it has been commended twice in the Congressional Record.

PROBABLY foremost among these is the firm's insistence on lath and plaster walls and ceilings — a feature of all the more than 14,000 homes built by S & S in Southern California. Lath and plaster may cost the builder more, Degen explained, but its advantages are worth it.

Other construction features include lifetime concrete driveways and walks and underground utilities.

Prices in the moderate range include wall-to-wall carpeting, marble entry floors, cut crystal chandeliers in formal dining rooms, and flower fresh kitchens with pass-through windows for garden-patio service.

THE LOTS at Maybrook are huge, with room enough for swimming pool and children's play area. The full scope of indoor-outdoor living was an important consideration in the preliminary planning of Maybrook, Degen said.

Every size of family can be accommodated. The homes are of three, four, five and six bedrooms. One plan has four bedrooms with a large recreation room which can be converted to additional bedrooms as the family grows.

To inspect the model homes, take the San Diego Freeway or Santa Ana Freeway to Beach Blvd. Turn south one block past the San Diego Freeway and left on Edinger to Maybrook Homes.

Topic for Seminar: Mergers

Are mergers and acquisitions relevant to business growth for the independent business man?

Lesler Welch, coordinator of a one-day seminar, "Mergers and Acquisitions" to be presented by UC Irvine Extension at the Newporter Inn next Saturday, says, "Yes."

Many national firms are taking a second look at their mergers, according to Welch who is consultant for Management Advisory Services, Alexander Grant & Co., and some are "spinning off" or consolidating.

This leads the independent business man to question their importance for the future, questions which the seminar will seek to answer.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. and lunch is included in the fee of $30.

L.A. Appraisers Set McCann Talk

Wilbur McCann, president of Western Economic Research Company, Sherman Oaks, will speak at the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, Los Angeles Chapter, 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting Tuesday at the Chalon Mart.

McCann compiles a comprehensive quarterly report entitled, "The Residential Research Report." He will discuss how the report is put together, sources of data, reliability of the results, and the uses to which it can be put from an appraiser's standpoint.

THE REPORT is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year, and is the best single source of data affecting the real estate economy of Southern California.

A RESIDENT of Van Nuys, McCann operates as an independent economic consultant and his work is largely in the field of area analysis and the use of economic information for public relation purposes, as well as area development and marketing.

McCann is research director for the Residential Research Committee of Southern California and is a member of the National Association of Business Economists, Los Angeles and California State Chambers of Commerce and the Downtown Businessmen's Association.

Rapid Sales at S&S College Park North

A new concept that places emphasis on outdoor as well as indoor living for the entire family's credited with a fast sales pace at College Park North in Los Alamitos, according to Jerry Degen, marketing and sales director.

The new community by S & S Construction Co., a division of Shapell Industries, Inc., announced its grand opening three weeks ago and buyer response since is described as "far exceeding our most optimistic projections."

Huge side yards that provide more than ample room simultaneously for both adults and children have great appeal to outdoors-oriented buyers who plan to take advantage of Southern California's favorable year-round climate.

COMMUNITY planning

wins acclaim from visitors, too.

College Park North has the location advantages of being in one of the prime growth areas, close to golf courses, the Los Alamitos race track, a few minutes from Disneyland, Angel Stadium and Knott's Berry Farm.

Major shopping centers, golf courses, the marinas and beaches, as well as employment centers are nearby.

This is a basic four-bedroom home with a huge bonus room on the upper level.

THE LATTER can be used immediately as a recreation room and can be converted to a fifth and even sixth bedroom if family growth demands more bedroom space.

S & S quality standards are maintained throughout, including lath and plaster walls and ceilings, lifetime concrete driveways and underground utilities.

Flower-fresh kitchens boast custom cabinetry, luminous ceilings and pass-through windows to the garden area.

ALSO included in the moderate price range are such features as carpeting, marble entry floors, parquet flooring, crystal chandeliers, and ceramic tile kitchen countertops as well as shower stalls and walls over the bathtubs.

Financing terms are described as excellent.

Inspection is invited. Take San Diego Freeway to Los Alamitos turnoff, go north on Los Alamitos 3½ miles to Ball Road and turn right to College Park North at Ball and Bloomfield.

Model Homes Open at Meadowview

Two furnished model homes are open for inspection at Meadowview, Rancho California's 1150-acre country estate development in southwest Riverside County.

Individual parcels are offered in one-half to 1½ acre sizes at Meadowview.

The homes, both on view lots, feature fireplaces, electric kitchens and air-conditioning.

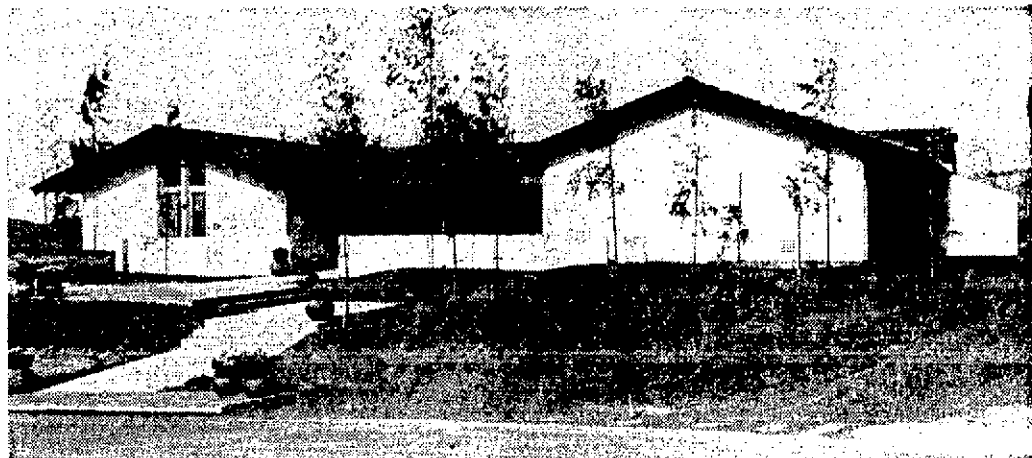

One is a 3100-square-foot, U-shaped ranch style house with three bedrooms, formal living and dining rooms, a family room, two baths and a three-car garage.

THE OTHER dwelling, a 200-square-foot Spanish design four-bedroom home, has formal living and dining rooms, a family room, two baths and a two-car garage.

There also is a stable and corral adjacent. Butterfield Land Corporation, a subsidiary of Coldwell, Banker & Co., is the exclusive sales agent for Meadowview.

The project may be reached by driving east of U.S. 395 at Rancho California Road, turning left on Moraga Road to S. General Kearney Road.

Beverly Abrams Joins Park Gate Realty Staff

Park Gate Realty, 9012 Garden Grove Blvd., Garden Grove, last week announced Beverly A. Abrams has joined its staff as non-employing broker.

Mrs. Abrams, past president of the West Orange County Board of Realtors' Womens Council, joined the board in 1961.

Upon receiving her broker's license later that year, she soon was serving on numerous committees — chairman of public relations, of the annual essay contest and others.

MRS. ABRAMS has continued her real estate education and has obtained several credits toward her GRI (Graduate Realtors Institute) certificate.

She is enrolled at Orange Coast College, working toward completion of a junior college real estate certificate.

Mrs. Abrams, who specializes in residential real estate, is immediate past president of the Garden Grove Beautification Association.

Park Gate Realty now is staffed with 14 professional real estate salesmen and brokers.

MCI Acquires New Industrial Park Site

A 23.5-acre site for a new $3 million industrial park and motel has been acquired by MCI, Commercial-Industrial Division of Macco Corporation, real estate subsidiary of Great South West Corporation.

The site for the industrial park and the motel is on McFadden Avenue at Village Way, just west of the Newport Freeway, near Santa Ana.

Construction will start immediately on the industrial office and warehouse space which will have units for lease from 1800 square feet to 75,000 square feet on 18.5 acres of the property.

The motel will be built on the remaining five acres.

cluded in other parks, such as warehouse space that includes air-conditioned offices and executive suites with carpets, drapes and paneling," said Russ R. MacQuiddy, vice president of MCI.

MacQuiddy also noted that adequate parking and a fully landscaped area would also be provided.

A "Ready for Occupancy" status will be achieved in June, 1970, when the McFadden Industrial Park is completed. No date has been set for construction of the motel.

The park is located next to Xerox Corporation's Western Regional Headquarters.

Bonanza Reveals Expansion

Bonanza Operations, Inc., a newly formed mobile home-recreational vehicle sales company, opened corporate offices at 1570 East Edinger, Suite 1, Santa Ana, last week.

Joe O. Toland, president of the company, told of plans for 50 retail mobile home sales lots throughout the Western States. Opening of a "Bonanza" mobile-home sales lot is planned for today in San Bernardino.

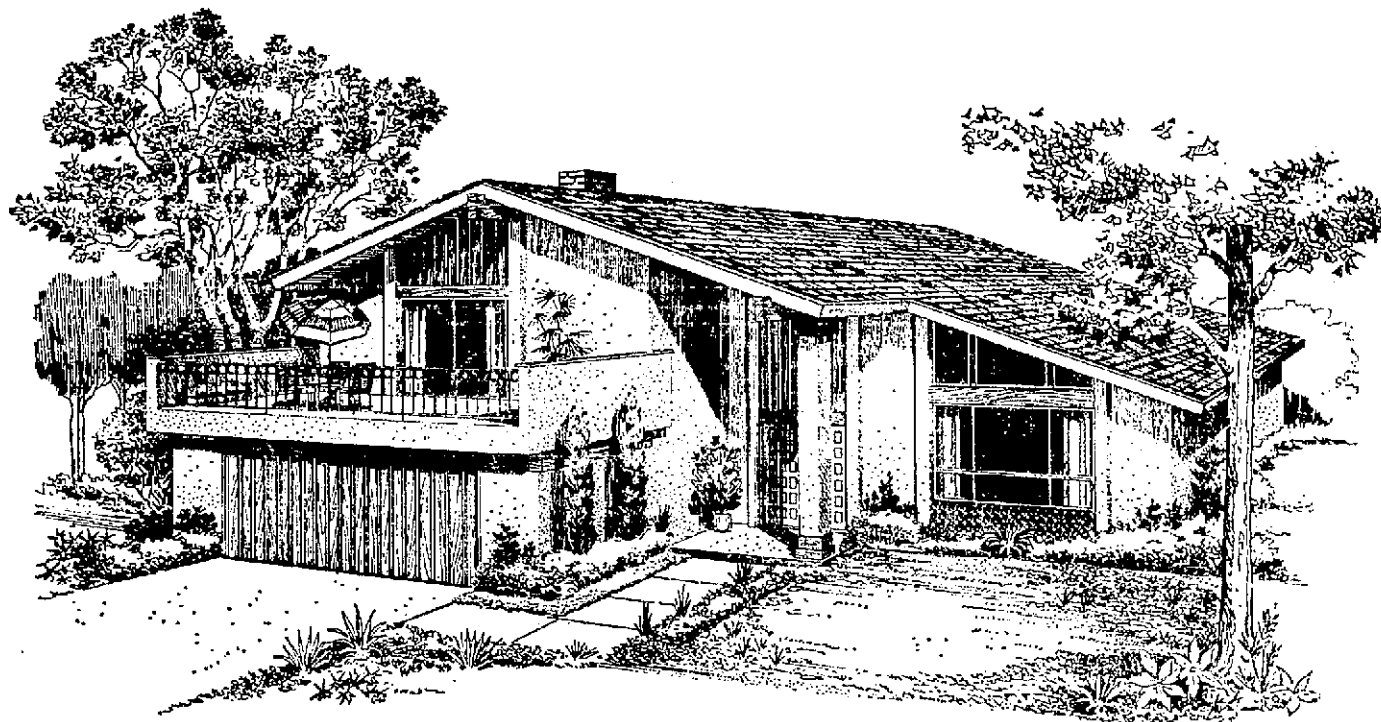

Other lots are to be opened in Garden Grove, Oxnard, Van Nuys, San Diego, Arizona, Utah, Oregon, Washington and Northern California, he said.

Troy Cerritos Nears Opening

Streets are being graded and block walls erected in the 102-unit Troy Cerritos, The McCarthy Company's $3 million Los Angeles County housing development, according to William V. Mesker, executive vice president.

Framing and roofing on the first four model homes was completed last week, and construction experts conducted the traditional McCarthy check for all possible improvements or corrections.

Plans call for a combination of one and two story homes with cathedral ceilings, fireplaces, family entertainment centers, master bedrooms and baths with separate dressing rooms.

Construction on the remaining 98 homes is scheduled to begin Dec. 1.

Sizes range from approximately 1,400 square feet to 2,000-plus square feet, and from three to five bedrooms. Homes will be priced from $26,950 to $32,950, Meeker said.

The new home complex is in Cerritos at the intersection of Bloomfield and 195th Streets, and is a joint venture with Western Mortgage Company.

Le Gran Corp., L.B., Continues Growth

Le Gran Corporation of Long Beach has opened its latest jewelry department at Gemco's new membership discount department store at Gardena, it was announced by Le Gran President David Grand.

The Gardena opening is Le Gran's third this year, and brings to 27 the number of jewelry concessions it has operating in a like number of discount department stores in California and Hawaii.

The Gardena department's merchandise mix is much the same as that at the other Le Gran departments located in 18 Gemcos in Southern and Northern California, according to Grand.

IT CONSISTS of approximately 45 per cent in fine and costume jewelry items, including rings and watches; 25 per cent in radios, tape recorders, and phonographs; 20 per cent in cameras and other photographic equipment; and 10 per cent in miscellaneous merchandise, including typewriters and luggage.

Later this month another jewelry department will open for business at the new USE discount store center at Millbrae. This will become Le Gran's third unit in the USE chain in Northern California.

Two additional units are scheduled to open at new Gemcos at Lancaster and Cerritos by late November. These additions will bring to 30 the number of Le Gran operating units, compared to 24 at year end 1968.

Luxury at Moderate Price Found in Sol Vista Homes

That today's builders are offering the home-buyer a more luxurious type of home than before at a moderate price is evident at Sol Vista/Foundation Valley, a new development of 61 homes in Orange County.

Visitors to the planned community are impressed with the many desirable living and comfort features available in these homes priced from $32,950.

Two of the five available models feature step down living and formal dining areas with graceful, sloping Cathedral ceilings.

Spacious indoor-outdoor kitchens offer pass-through windows to outside areas and a variety of quality built-in appliances.

HOMES in the new community are available with three, four and five bedrooms, large family rooms and separate formal dining areas.

Two of the models provide two level living and three models are single story dwellings.

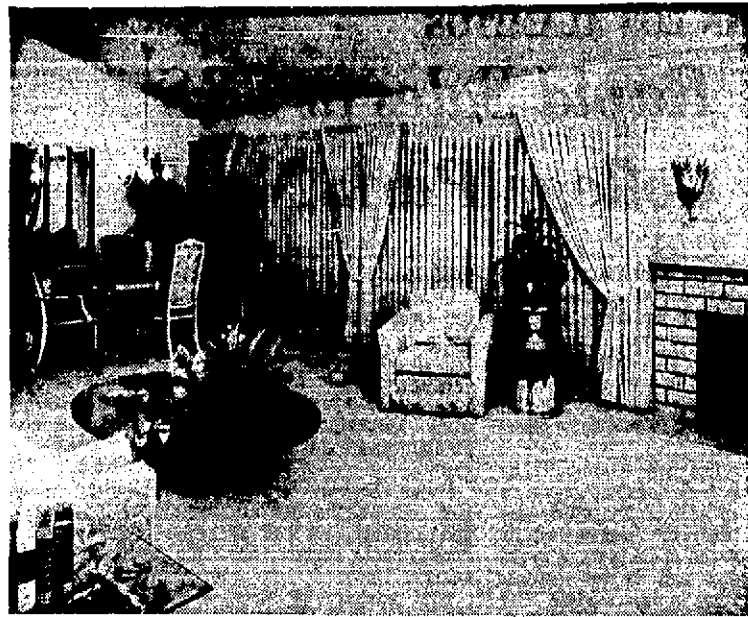

Seventeen distinctive exterior designs make the entire Sol Vista-Fountain community one of the

ARCHITECTURAL planning includes double door entries and three car garages in some models.

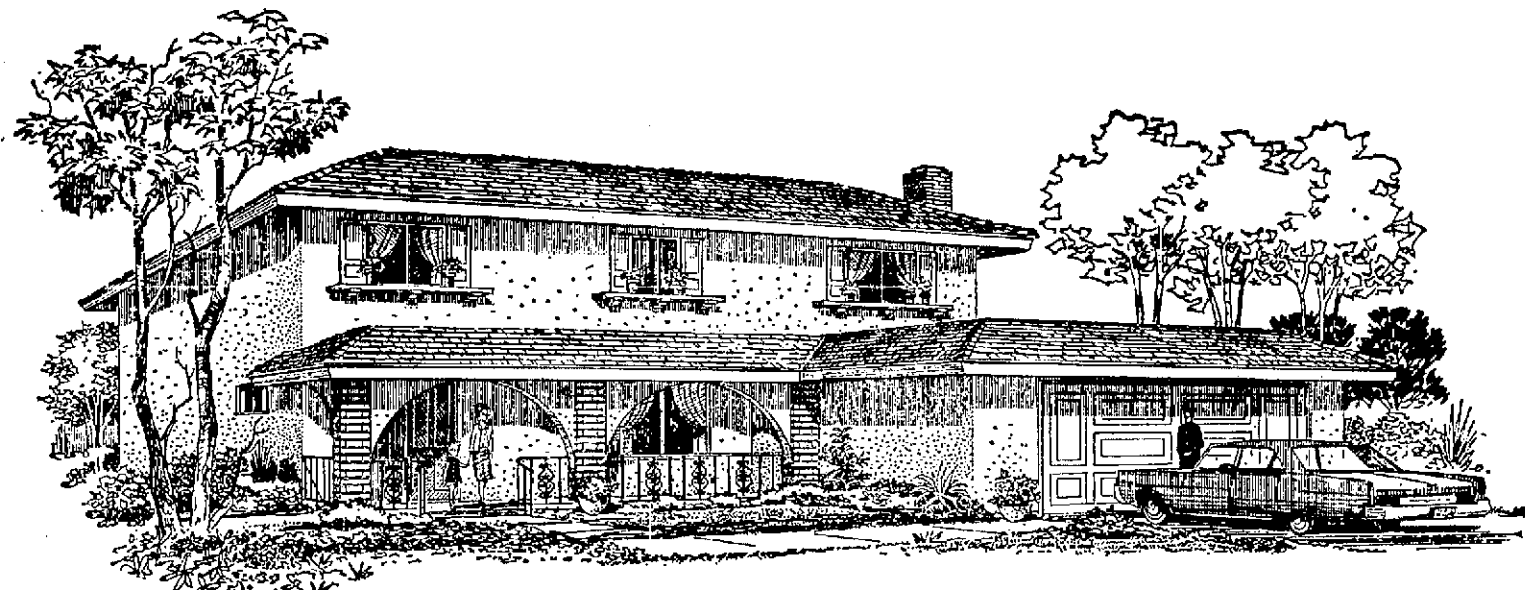

The master bath is large and spacious with showers big enough for two. Closets and storage areas are all well planned to allow for family growth.

Sol Vista homes are located at 16300 Magnolia, just north of the San Diego Freeway. To reach the development take the Magnolia off ramp from either the San Diego or Garden Grove Freeways.

Housing Shortage Obvious; 'Buy Now' Advice Given

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

In the Southland — and across the nation — the impact of a housing shortage suddenly has grown painfully obvious.

The Wall Street Journal last week devoted a large portion of a front page to the problem. Other periodicals are crammed with the same message.

Home building in the U.S. hit its stride in 1950 with 1.9 million units started. Nearly 20 years have passed — and in that time yearly starts rarely inched above the 1.5 million mark.

The population, meanwhile, has mushroomed by a third — more than 50 million people.

It took time, but the disparity between proliferating people and housing to put them was not too obvious. Since 1965, however, the impact has hit.

Vacancy rates in rental housing tell the best evidence: Nationwide, the drop since 1965 has been from 7.7 per cent to 5 per cent. In Long Beach, the apartment vacancy factor stands at 2 per cent.

HOUSES COST MORE

There are three factors involved in the 31 percent increase in the price of a house since 1965:

(1) Cost of land. Building sites near urban job centers has jumped over 60 per cent since 1960.

(2) Cost of labor. Wages in the construction industry have jumped 12.5 per cent.

(3) Cost of mortgage money. Interest rates, now well above 8 per cent, were under 6 per cent in 1965.

The government, says the Wall Street Journal, must consider housing its biggest item on the economic agenda "when if ever the present bout with inflation subsides."

INDUSTRIAL AREA GROWS

The South Coast-South Bay area is the fastest growing industrial area in Los Angeles County.

That much could easily have been guessed — but just how swiftly the area is attracting industry nevertheless is surprising.

Trend-Line, the economic bulletin published by the Research Department of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, last week came up with some startling figures.

Take a look:

The South Coast-South Bay area in the last decade shows a net increase of 79,900 persons (91.6 per cent) engaged in manufacturing. The present total: 167,000.

Total of all kinds of employment for this same 10-year span in the same area increased by 178,800 persons, or 62.9 per cent.

Economist Wilbur McCann, whose study resulted in the figures, pointed out, too, that the South Coast-South Bay area represents 18.6 per cent of the total manufacturing employment in Los Angeles County.

BUYING DELAYS COSTLY

There are indications prospective purchasers of new homes should buy now — hesitation could be very costly — according to a recent survey of major Orange County home builders to determine areas of actual cost increase during the past year.

Price of an average new home in this area increased 8 per cent, but even more of a jolt was the jump in local builders' actual costs, up more than 11 per cent.

And the end is not in sight, industry sources predict. By shaving profit, overhead, sales expenses and advertising, developers have refrained from passing on to consumers all mounting costs of home construction.

How long this practice can continue, however, is problematic.

The survey sponsored by the Orange County Chapter, Building Industry Association of California, was made by Dale J. Post, assistant vice president in charge of marketing research for First American Title Insurance Company, Santa Ana, who is BIA public relations and education chairman.

"The prospective home buyer today should realize that the value of his house will increase approximately in proportion to the cost of reproducing that dwelling at some future date," said Royce Coin, BIA area manager.

"Contrary to some depressed or non-viable areas of the United States, the home owner or buyer in Southern California knows that his property investment will be reasonably well protected because of the growth and viability of this area."

DOLLAR COMPARISONS

In order to compare year-to-year changes as accurately as possible, BIA's cost estimating form was used by First American Title to indicate cost breakdowns. Developments participating in the sampling included homes ranging in price from $30,000 to $40,000.

From mid-1968 until July 1969, the price of an average home rose from $34,250 to $6,990 or 2,740, in the developments included in the survey.

To some extent it is possible to predict accurately that home building costs will continue to rise, Coin stressed.

"We know now what we will be paying carpenters in 1972. This contract was negotiated in May 1969. The current carpenter's wage, including fringe benefits, is $7 per hour, which will increase to $8.50 per hour by 1972. The cost of carpentry labor comprises a substantial portion of the unit cost of housing construction.

"While the current hourly wage of the cement mason is $6.84," he said, "this will rise to $8.40 by 1972. Similar wage increases also apply to other basic construction crafts. The recent settlement with the operating engineers effected a four-year contract which includes a total wage increase of $4.05 per hour over the contract period, an increase of 65 per cent. The plumbers' strike, finally settled in September, resulted in an increase in 1971 to $11.62 per hour from the pre-strike hourly wage of $7.00."

Coin continued that "it is reasonable to assume that the cost of construction materials and of labor to produce these materials will increase at a parallel rate. All of these additional costs are borne by the home buyer."

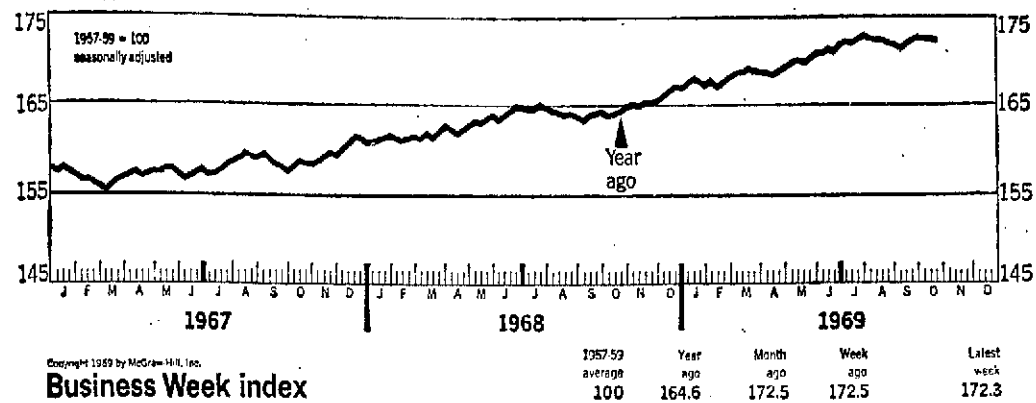

Firm Offers Brochure

"Can drugs be harmful?" seems like a tragically naive question to a mortician who has been called by anguished parents to prepare teen-age drug victims for interment.

That's part of the dramatic background of an illustrated summary for parents and students — identifying the symptoms and jeopardies of drugs — now being distributed as a public service at all 11 Coast and Southern Federal Savings and Loan Association offices.

THE FIRM also is providing more than 30,000 copies for distribution by the Los Angeles Police Department.

William S. Panzich, manager of Coast and Southern Federal's Long Beach office, 200 E. Third St., said everyone is urged to "drop in and pick up one of the multi-colored brochures which utilize cartoons and diagrams to tell the message with impact."

Index Shows Slight Dip Downward

With a combination of settled steel strikes and growing auto strikes, the Index dipped 0.1 per cent below the week-ago level.

Steel production went down 1.1 per cent as steel orders slowed down following a Canadian steel strike settlement.

Electric power output slipped 0.7 per cent, while crude oil refinery runs went up 0.1 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings dropped 2.9 per cent; all other carloadings fell 0.4 per cent, and inter-city truck tonnage gained 1.0 per cent.

Paperboard production grew 0.9 per cent.

K Mart Opens Doors in Bellflower Thursday

The K mart discount department store and supermarket at 10480 Rosecrans Ave., Bellflower, will open at 10 a.m. Thursday.

City officials and top executives of the S. S. Kresge Company will take part in a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony at the main doors of the department store immediately before opening.

Lloyd B. Drake has been appointed general manager of the new 116,805-square-foot discount department store. Drake entered the employ of the Kresge Company in 1954. He was promoted to the management of his first store in Oklahoma City in 1962, then managed two more stores and served as a district manager in the company's Western Region.

He comes to Bellflower from a K mart unit in Los Angeles.

THE NEW K mart discount department store will be under the supervision of B. M. Fauber, vice president of Kresge's Western Region headquartered in Los Angeles.

Drake stressed that all K mart discount department stores sell only first quality goods and a wide variety of nationally advertised brands at low prices.

MANAGER
James Herrell, of Huntington Harbor, has been named manager of Mit-chum, Jones & Templeton's Laguna Beach office. Before joining MJT he was syndicate manager for a brokerage firm.

L.A. Building Job to L.B. Firm

Tri-Cor Inc., Long Beach, has begun construction of a $50,000 service and office facility for Welox, a Halliburton Company, which is headquartered at 1709 W. Eighth St., Los Angeles.

Designed by L.R. Schwabauer, the new structure measures 50 x 122' 8" x 15' 9 1/2". Completion date is set for the month of December.

The Bellflower stores is just one of many K mart units opening in California as the Kresge Company seeks to satisfy the needs of the state's growing economy and burgeoning population, Drake said.

"THE NEW K mart, selling nationally advertised products and backing all sales with a 'satisfaction always' policy, will be a discount department store in its pricing policies," Drake added.

Following are highlights of the merchandise the department store will carry: major appliances, including color television sets, washing machines and refrigerators; small appliances; furniture; building tools and supplies; floor coverings; draperies, yard goods and sewing materials; women's fashions; men's, boys' girls' and infants' clothing; bedding; jewelry; camera supplies; books and records; pets and pet supplies and health and beauty aids.

THE K mart will have a complete automotive center with a large auto music section featuring tape players and tapes.

Several bays will be available to expedite service for light maintenance and replacement parts.

The center will offer wheel alignments and balancing; the quick checking and replacement of brakes, tail pipes and mufflers.

The store will also feature a full-line sporting goods department; a full-range grocery supermarket and a self-serve snack bar with booth seating.

"More than 175 Bellflower area residents will be given full employment when the K mart opens," said Drake. "In addition, up to 75 more will be hired part-time during holiday seasons. A staff made up of entirely local people will assure our being alert to all of the needs of our new customers."

The first K mart opened in a suburb in Detroit in 1962. Kresge's chairman and president Harry B. Cunningham, planned it around top-quality merchandise sold at a small profit to induce high volume.

"This policy, explained Drake, "brought immediate and overwhelming public acceptance which was the basis for expansion to over 300 K marts in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and Australia as of October 1, 1969."

Detailed preparations are being made to open an additional 65 K mart stores in 1970.

The Port of Long Beach will have four representatives, commissioners and staff, which will accompany the official delegation of the Chamber of Commerce during a spring tour of the Orient which will end with a visit to Expo '70 in Osaka.

OFFICIALS OF THE Port of Los Angeles will request permission from the police commission for all of the harbor department officers, including drivers for the commissioners, to carry concealed firearms while on duty in civilian clothes.

"Since drivers are normally in civilian clothes and very often have distinguished American or foreign passengers, they should be permitted to carry a weapon for the passenger's protect," the request stated.

THE TWO LOCAL PORTS can and do cooperate to promote more trade through the Long Beach-Los Angeles harbor complex.

Last week the two harbor departments co-sponsored a port tour and inspection of facilities for 10 representatives of the cotton spinning industry in eight Far East countries.

Ninety five per cent of the cotton imported by these countries is exported from the U.S.

Purpose of the visit by the Far East manufacturers was to encourage them to order their cotton shipped through either of the two local ports.

Speaking on the dependency of India for cotton, Dr. K. Dharmarajulu told those attending a luncheon at the Reef Restaurant:

"If every woman in India were to buy just one more (saree), a dress made of printed cotton 42 inches wide and six yards long, the world's supply of cotton would not be sufficient to meet the demand."

CHARLES G. SUTTON, president of the SS Princess Louise Floating Restaurant which rises and falls with the tide of the Terminal Island side of the main channel in Los Angeles Harbor, has revealed plans to create other shipboard restaurants in Honolulu and Acapulco.

Sutton says he also has had exploratory meetings for other ship restaurants in "several major Pacific Coast harbors."

The ship-to-restaurant converter claims he has options on three European luxury liners comparable in size and scope to the 330-foot Princess Louise which could be converted to floating restaurants.

A LETTER FROM Capt. J. Treasure Jones, last captain of the RMS Queen Mary, says: "I have heard from Diners Club-Queen Mary and we shall no doubt have an announcement to make after I meet them in Long Beach in December."

The announcement undoubtedly will concern the captain's function as a public relations representative for the Diners Club-Queen Mary.

WELL-KNOWN Shoemaker to Post at Tramway

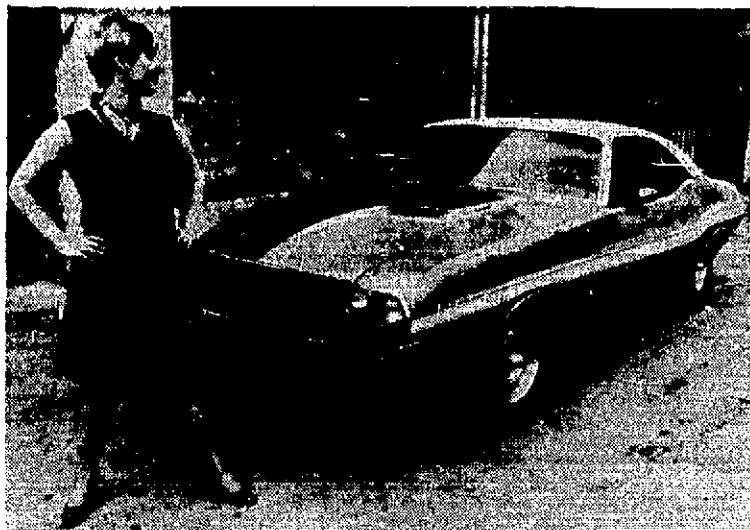

Appointment of Lisle F. Shoemaker, former Southland newsman and long prominent in South California public relations circles and now a resident of Palm Springs, to the post of assistant director of public relations for the Aerial Tramway in Palm Springs, was announced by Milton F. Jones, head of the advertising and public relations agency which handles the Tramway account.

Shoemaker, winner of the 1957 San Diego Public Relations Club award for "Best Publicity Program for a Single Event," replaces Mary Lehto, resigned.

THE Tramway's new public relations head is a former night bureau manager for the Los Angeles office of United Press International and later served as a war correspondent for UPI in the Pacific Theatre of World War II.

After the war, he was assistant publisher of the Los Angeles Daily News. In San Diego he was promotion manager for the San Diego Daily Journal and public relations director for the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

HE LATER operated his own advertising-public relations agency and has handled such accounts as the Art Linkletter-Stan Swartz home construction activity on Irvine ranch, the promotion and advertising for the second largest bullfight ring in the world in Tijuana and most recently advertising and public relations for the $8 million dollar San Diego Sports Arena, it's NBA Rockets and the Western Hockey League team, the Gulls.

Santa Ana Firm to Complete Interior of 'Playboy' Plane

Dimensional, of Santa Ana, known as one of the nation's leading manufacturers of custom designed and hand carved doors as well as custom products in plastics, has been contracted to execute all five glass forms and shapes for the interior of Hugh M. Hefner's $5½ million personal corporate jetliner.

Hefner is editor and publisher of Playboy magazine and president of the Playboy Clubs.

Working closely with Daniel Czubak Associates-Radius, of Chicago, designers of the Playboy aircraft, and with engineers from Pacific Airmotive Corporation (PAC), Dimensional artists and craftsmen will execute the innovative concept of Daniel Czubak.

"AFTER A thorough study of firms throughout the country, I was convinced that Dimensional had the facilities, attitudes, capabilities, forms and shapes — and most important, the enthusiasm — to accept the challenge of a new concept in customized interiors for aircraft," states Czubak.

"There is an explosion in the materials field. We are living in the space age, yet aircraft continues to use office-type design for their interiors. Only Dimensional, it seemed to me, had the courage and the insight to recognize what it was we were trying to achieve and to accept the challenge."

AIM OF the designer and his craftsmen is to create the most contemporary corporate jetliner aloft. Composite materials are used throughout the "stretched" DC-9 in a variety of forms and shapes. The spatial effect achieved by the sculptured forms "is one of warmth, opulence and fluidity of line," the designers said.

Dimensional executive vice president William Odenthal considers his firm's involvement as one of "great value both for demonstrating what we are capable of achieving with advanced composite materials and for recognition of Dimensional's forward-looking attitude in promoting the work of progressive and innovative designers."

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

You never know. Like the ads say — I just might be "Dodge Material."

Because I had a good feel of the material last week as I zapped around town challenging all the wheels on the road. And I had every right to as I was behind the wheel of a Challenger, the exciting low-slung compact that Dodge has introduced as the industry's only new model for 1970.

Borrowed from Dodge Division's Fullerton office, I had a week of driving pleasure with the feisty fun machine. It's probably the roomiest and most versatile sporty car on the market. Its aerodynamic styling and low profile along with the steeply raked windshield and short rear deck attracted car buffs while driving or parked.

And the colors! Mine was "Go-Mango," as the Challenger was the color of the tropical mango fruit, with a black hood and off-white top. A white stripe to match the top ran down the sides to emphasize that "speed while standing" look. And there are four other "in" colors such as "Plumb Crazy," "Sublime," "Top Banana," obviously a bright yellow, and a "Hemi Orange," more of a tangerine.

THE CAR'S versatility is reflected by its nine models and nine separate engine choices. Under the hood of this particular "Go-Mango" was a 383 Magnum engine that obviously could snap your head back when the accelerator was floored from a start.

The Challenger is offered in a two-door hardtop, formal roof hardtop and a convertible. Mine was the Special Edition (how about that for a newspaper guy?) with fancy interior trim and a classic, small rear window.

For the performance minded, the Challenger R-T has the heavy duty suspension, wide lines of Goodyear Polyglas and the other "muscle" engines found in all Dodge Seat pack cars.

Thanks, Dodge, for a week of driving this vibrant vehicle. Just as you have with the Charger, I think little brother Challenger will do it again.

Resale Home Is Alternative to Current House Shortage

"Housing Shortage is not a thing of the future but is here and now," says Walker & Lee Resale Homes Division chief William H. McCabe.

McCabe reports: "Housing construction is still trying to make up for the delays caused by labor strikes. While many homebuyers are able and willing to wait until they move into a newly-constructed home, there are many more who can't.

"Fortunately, they have an alternative, the resale home. The quantity of resale homes available in Southern California still is great, but a good deal less than, say a year ago."

THAT THE slow down in the influx of population to Southern California has not come about and the real estate activity in Orange County still makes it the leader in the nation was apparent in the current report released by the firm's Marketing Division.

"If the market is slow," commented McCabe, "we certainly are unaware of it."

Along with the firm's resale division, Walker & Lee also operates a new house division with representation of 51 tracts and developments in the Southern California area from Ventura to San Diego County.

OTHER operations of the giant real estate complex include an Investment Division, an Acreage Department and a Marketing Service.

Two wholly owned subsidiaries are Walker & Lee Insurance and Walker & Lee Escrow Corporation. The firm's total sales volume for 1968 totaled just short of $200 million.

COMMANDER

Brig. Gen. Warner E. Newby has assumed command of Air Force's Contract Management Division, El Segundo, replacing Maj. Gen. Daniel E. Riley who has been assigned to the Defense Supply Agency. Last year the Contract Management Division supervised $3.8 billion in defense contracts.

S.A. Firm in Vegas Contract

include Garden View kitchens with pass-through windows and self-cleaning ovens, vaulted ceilings in living and family rooms, generous use of ceramic tile, and carpeting in specified areas.

Prices start at $27,950. VA, FHA and conventional terms are available.

To inspect the furnished model homes, open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., take the San Diego Freeway to Fairview Road off-ramp, go one block north to Sunflower Avenue and right to model homes. Via surface streets, take Harbor Boulevard or Bristol Street to 1101 Sunflower Avenue.

Chef's Orchid Airline Caterers, New York-based chain of airline food service centers, has named Food Facilities Equipment & Design of Santa Ana to complete its newest facility at the Las Vegas Airport.

Seventh in a nationwide chain of airline catering kitchens, the $350,000 complex will service food preparations for all non-scheduled airlines serving Las Vegas, according to Paul Renius, Food Facilities president.

The western states design firm has been contracted to completely furnish the food facility, including cooking, refrigeration and dishwashing equipment.

THE 20,000 - square - foot service facility will be equipped with seven walk-in refrigeration and freezing units, Renius said.

Additionally, a 1,600 square foot storage area will be provided. Two 16-foot flight-type dishwashers with continuously operating belts will be placed in service to accommodate the flow of working utensils.

The project is scheduled for completion in October. The design firm is located at 308 E. Fifth St., Santa Ana.

Builders Meet on Monday

Speakers for Monday night's meeting of the Builders' Exchange of Long Beach, Inc., will be Hal Aaron, newly installed CSBE president, and Rick Dittmar, CSBE manager.

Aaron will talk about "Construction Industry Unity — A Must for Survival," Dittmar, on "CSBE Blue Print for 1970."

The exchange meets at Golden Sails Inn at 6 p.m.

Golden West, Huntington Beach, Offers Top Quality Construction

The message of higher home prices next year is getting through to the public, judging from recent sales at Golden West in Huntington Beach, according to Jerry Degen, director of sales and marketing for S & S Construction Co.

"Several of our most recent buyers indicated that they had not been planning to buy until next summer — until they read recent predictions by experts of higher prices next year," Degen said. "Then they decided to save that extra 15 per cent."

Ray Jallow, chief economist for a leading bank, recently predicted that housing costs "will further rise by as much as 8 to 12 per cent in 1970." The rise in housing costs in each of the last two years was from 10 to 15 per cent, compared to less than 4 per cent in prior years.

and foremost home designs at a moderate price."

To visit the model homes, take San Diego Freeway to Golden West, and turn south, or take Santa Ana Freeway to Beach Blvd., and turn south to McFadden, then west to Golden West.

Purex Reveals Growth

The annual meeting of shareholders of Purex Corporation, Ltd. was held at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles.

Board Chairman and President William R. Tinscher reviewed the record breaking operations of the most recent quarter ended Sept. 30, outlined the company's impressive growth during the past 10 years and explained why he believes that record can be duplicated or surpassed during the 1970s.

Ben J. Little, Purex vice president and treasurer, reported on operations for the first quarter of the 1969-70 fiscal year.

He announced net sales, net income and earnings per share for the quarter ended Sept. 30 all established all-time highs for the comparable quarter.

NET SALES and net income both were approximately nine per cent higher than for the first quarter last year, and earnings per share increased more than 5 per cent.

Purex sales for the period were $88,495,000, compared with $81,036,000 for the first quarter of the last fiscal year.

Net income for the first quarter of the current fiscal year was $4,211,000, compared with $3,849,000 for the same quarter of the preceding fiscal year, and earnings per share were 40 cents for the first quarter compared to 38 cents for the first quarter last year.

Mesa Woods Offers 30-60-Day Move-in

A few of the homes nearing completion in the Mesa Woods development of Costa Mesa are available to families desiring to re-locate soon, it was announced by Ken Breman, sales and marketing director for George J. Helitzer & Associates, builders-developers.

"Those who buy now can look forward to moving in in 30 to 60 days," Breman said.

Mesa Woods is proving a popular new community with Orange County buyers who signed up for more than one and a half million dollars worth within the first 60 days.

ly owned for over 44 years.

INNOVATIVE land planning is given much of the credit for the sales success by partner David R. Breman.

The homes are placed on the lot in such a manner that the usually wasted side yard is eliminated and, instead, the family enjoys a huge garden court.

The technique also permits floor plans and designs which would not be possible under traditional planning.

Most floor plans offer completely private interior garden courts — in addition to the large outdoor one.

NOTEWORTHY features

include Garden View kitchens with pass-through windows and self-cleaning ovens, vaulted ceilings in living and family rooms, generous use of ceramic tile, and carpeting in specified areas.

Rear yards are fenced and front yards are landscaped.

Torrance's Economic Growth Noted in National Magazine

Exceptional economic expansion is continuing in the city of Torrance, according to Harry B. Gorman, president of the Torrance Area Chamber of Commerce.

Data recently published in the nationally circulated magazine, "Sales Management Survey of Buying Power," indicates a substantial degree of growth in buying income and retail sales, he said.

Effective buying income, which is essentially income after taxes, has increased an impressive $41 million during 1968 to a total exceeding $485 million. The city now has almost twice the buying power it had in 1962. Estimated effective buying income per household has risen from $8,332 in 1962 to $12,260 in 1968.

Retail sales came close to hitting the $400 million mark in 1968 and should top this amount when the figures for 1969 are reported, Gorman said.

category of general merchandise retail sales with an estimated figure of $161,427,000. This is up from $147 million in 1967. The first four cities in this category of sales, in order, are Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Oakland.

The city placed eighth in California in food store sales with an estimated figure of $86,995,000. This is an increase of $3.8 million over 1967.

DRUG store sales were estimated at $11,212,000 for an increase over 1967 of $562,000. Torrance placed 13th in the state in this sales category.

Sales in the furniture and household appliances sector were estimated at $12,591,000 for a 26th position statewide. This is an increase of $981,000 over the year before.

An increase of $3,769,000 in automotive sales over 1967 brought the 1968 estimated figure to $37,050,000. The city was 43rd in the state in this category.

Sales categories not included in the breakdown are sales at eating and drinking establishments, apparel and accessory stores, lumber, building materials and hardware, and gasoline service stations.

Gorman also noted that while Torrance is ranked 110th place in the nation in population, the city is in 78th place in total retail sales and in 95th position in total net effective buying income.

Walt Mahler Is WOC Realtors' President for '70

Walt Mahler, partner in Target Realty, was unanimously elected to serve as president of the 750-member West Orange County Board of Realtors for 1970.

Other new officers will include John Gerry, owner of Mercury Realty, first vice president; Floyd A. Colglazier, owner of Aetna Realty Service, second vice president; O. E. "Bud" Hanson, owner of West Orange County Realty, secretary; Thelma Hanscom, owner of Hanscom Realty, treasurer.

Two-year directors are Richard Rule and V. "Mack" Womack. Both Rule and Womack head their own offices of the same name: Rule Realty and Womack Realty. Ralph Young of Farrow Realty was re-elected as salesman director.

HOLD-OVER directors

presently serving a two-year term are Marvin P. McCormick, manager of the Rex L. Hodges Westminster office, and Stan Moore, owner of Moore Realty.

Dick Y. Nerio, this year's president and owner of Bolsa Realty, also is a carry-over director.

Mahler has been a member of the board five years, serving as a director for two years, this year as first vice president. He also has chaired the program committee and the building committee, and served as co-chairman of the installation committee.

A native of Chicago, he first entered the business field of electronics in Monrovia in 1960. Prior to that he was engaged in the heating and air conditioning business in Chicago. He served in the U.S. Air Force Intelligence Division in Europe during World War II. He and his lovely wife Donna make their home in Garden Grove.

FIRST vice president-elect Gerry was first licensed as a real estate salesman in 1955 in San Francisco, and has been engaged in the real estate business since that time, joining the West Orange County Board in 1965.

He served the board this year as second vice president.

Mrs. Gerry also is a member of the board, working with him at Mercury Realty.

Moving up after having served this year as treasurer is Colglazier, who engaged in the real estate business in Burbank from 1952 until he moved to Orange County in 1963 and opened his own office.

NEXT YEAR'S secretary, Hanson, held this same position in the Westminster Board of Realtors prior to the merger with the Garden Grove Board a year ago. He has been engaged in the real estate business since coming here from Minnesota in 1960.

Treasurer for next year, Mrs. Hanscom, also held that post for the board in 1959.

A member since 1956,

Mrs. Hanscom has held almost every office except that of president. This year she has served on the budget and finance committee.

PRESIDENT-elect Mahler said the national picture for real estate is not as bright as it has been in the past three years.

"But," he said, "here in Orange County where personal incomes are much higher than the state average, and where we have the best real estate values to be found anywhere, the opportunities to render real estate service and make a comfortable living in the process are great. I have every confidence that we will all continue to prosper and with the help of the fine officers and directors who will be serving with me, 1970 will be a great year."

The new officers and directors will be installed Nov. 18 at the Elks Club, Long Beach. Sy Jaffrey is in charge of the arrangements. Installing officer will be Lavelle Sanders, Santa Ana, incoming District 23 vice president.

53 ACRES IN DEVELOPMENT Irvine Industrial Complex 'Fastest Growing'

At the gateway to Orange County Airport and adjacent to Irvine Industrial Complex, lie 53 acres of land slated for commercial development by Irvine.

Earmarked for the first phase of construction are 17 acres, seven of which already support the nearly completed $4 million Airport Inn Hotel, restaurant complex and 800-seat convention center.

The remaining 10 acres are leased and will be individually developed by the lessees.

All that is, except a parcel of land fronting on MacArthur Boulevard and extending approximately one city block on either side of Michaelson Drive.

This ground, which has been retained by Irvine Industrial Complex, will be broken early in 1970 for the construction of two four-story office buildings and two bank buildings.

Announcement was made by John E. Murphy, president of Irvine Industrial Complex.

"WITH OVER 225 industries now located in the complex, and more coming in all the time, the businesses within Airport Center will have an immediate service area to support them," said Murphy.

"By the same token," he added, "the complex will have its commercial needs served."

Irvine Industrial Complex, developing at the rate of 200 acres a year, is the fastest growing industrial complex in the nation.

Both the industrial complex and the Airport Business Center are immediately accessible by two major freeways, the Newport and the San Diego.

MacArthur Boulevard itself will soon become the Corona del Mar Freeway.

An unquestionable asset is proximity of the area to Orange County Airport, now fourth busiest in the nation. The airport area is also served by two railroads: the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific. Nowhere else in Orange County is there a commercial-industrial area serviced by such a combination of road, rail and air facilities.

ONLY A stone's throw from the industrial complex and the business center is the Irvine campus of the University of California. UCI enrollment, expected to be 27,500 by 1990, is a built-in recruiting ground for scientific and professional personnel.

The Airport Center buildings will total 130,000 square feet and will cost over $2.5 million to construct, according to John W. Millick, project manager.

The buildings, to be constructed of steel and glass, are "purely functional," he said. Indicating a scale model of the trim buildings, currently on display at The Irvine Company's headquarters in Newport Beach, Millick added:

"For example, the steel you see is not decorative — it is actually supporting the buildings. The architect has eliminated everything that doesn't serve a purpose. The design is meaningful and depicts the state-of-the-art industry and research carried on in the industrial complex."

COMPLETION of the buildings is scheduled for late 1970 when they will be occupied by Newport National Bank, Security Pacific Bank, a stock brokerage, and other business and professional firms.

Development of the second phase of Airport Business Center will swing into action around the first of the year when construction of off-site improvements begins.

"The 36 acres in phase two are already 85 per cent pre-leased," said James H. Young, Irvine's manager of commercial leasing.

"Four major office buildings, several restaurants and an industrial medical clinic will be going up," he added, "as well as a health club and other commercial facilities."

PML to Center

Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company will establish its principal operations office in Newport Center, the west coast's newest financial center being developed by the Irvine Company in Newport Beach.

This information was announced by Stanton G. Hale, president of Pacific Mutual Life, and William R. Mason, president of the Irvine Company, in a joint statement announcing the acquisition by Pacific Mutual of 10 acres of land located on the corner of Newport Center Drive and Santa Cruz Drive.

ACCORDING to Hale, Pacific Mutual Life will continue to maintain corporate headquarters in Los Angeles, but will establish its operations facility in Newport Center.

Construction is slated to get underway by 1971, and the company plans to occupy the premises about two years later.

At this time no final decisions have been made as to the segments of the company that will relocate in Newport Financial Center.

White Oliver Dealers Gather

More than 1,200 White Oliver farm equipment dealers and marketing personnel from throughout the United States will be airlifted into Torrance Monday morning for a new product preview.

White Oliver is the Oliver marketing arm of White Farm Equipment, subsidiary of White Motor Corporation.

The dealers will view a parade of 1970 new products and get a glimpse of what lies ahead in farm machinery farther into the 1970s at the Advanced Products Division. White Motor's research and development center serving all of its divisions, APD is headquartered in Torrance.

DIRECTOR

Appointment of E. G. Warmington Jr., former marketing for Walker & Lee and Corona del Mar resident, as new marketing director for Lusk Homes was announced last week. (A dropped line of type caused the original announcement here to infer Warmington formerly was with Lusk.)

TRAIN SIMULATOR

Nation's first locomotive-train simulator, which realistically reproduces sounds, sights and movements of train operation, is on display in Los Angeles Union Passenger Terminal. Here, instructor points out gauges to trainee in Santa Fe Railway's pilot program.
